

A. Prince introduced resolutions favoring the proposed action, and after full discussion by A. Prince, S. Tabor, E. J. Newman, E. P. Goslin, G. K. Lester and L. W. Paxon, they were unanimously adopted. Our Supervisor and ex-Supervisor, who had opposed, were seemingly astounded by the ayes, and refused to vote alone, when the other side was called.

These two worthies found themselves in an ugly fix in the meeting, face to face with those who had heard them elsewhere either laud or condemn the same provisions of this law. With the rich it was as near right as possible. No law could suit everybody. In the presence of the poor, it was an unequal, unjust and oppressive law, but in the meeting they were mum about the law, assuming to know better what the Administration wanted than it did itself. "It wanted men and they were not willing to hire men to stay at home," (a very logical deduction to be drawn from the proposition before the meeting,) yet, our ex-officio intimated that he should hire his own son to stay at home if he drew a prize, but "he did not ask any help."

The opinion prevailed in the meeting, that it was the duty of the Town Clerk to call a special town meeting upon the petition of twelve freeholders, and a committee was appointed to wait upon him to learn if he would call the meeting on the 14th inst., the day of the draft in this town, as requested in the resolutions passed. He replied that "he would call the meeting as requested, upon a proper petition, but that he felt it his duty to give eight days notice." The petition required was laid before him on the 11th instant. Still no meeting is noticed, and I understand that this reliable functionary has given out that none will be called. The Town Clique has so decided. Thus ended our town meeting. The poor must go to the war; the rich may go. The people have been defrauded and insulted by their own servants, and it remains to be seen whether it will be soon forgotten. Perhaps their loud professions of patriotism and loyalty, and their bitter denunciation of Democrats may fool somebody! The deception, double dealing and hypocrisy that has been so long and successfully practiced by these shoddy patriots is being unmasked by our trials, and presented to the indignant gaze of an outraged community. DR. SMITH'S SERMON.—It will be seen by the following correspondence that the Army Committee of the Young Men's Christian Union have requested a copy of Dr. Smith's sermon, referred to yesterday, for publication; and we are pleased to add that arrangements have been made by which a large edition of this excellent sermon will be circulated gratuitously in the army and navy:

BUFFALO, Aug. 21, 1863.

To the Rev. Henry Smith, D. D.—

Dear Sir: The Army Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, acting in behalf of the U. S. Christian Commission, at whose request you kindly delivered a sermon before a Union meeting of various churches of this city, on the day of our recent National Thanksgiving, believing that an extensive circulation of that sermon will be productive of great general good, most respectfully ask of you a copy of the same for publication by them, to be distributed especially among the brave men and officers of our army and navy.

With high esteem, yours truly,

J. D. Hill, M. D.,	Rev. John F. Ernst,
N. A. Halbert,	Jason Sexton,
Frederick Gridley,	Otis F. Presbrey,
S. D. Sykes,	S. H. Fish,
J. B. Sweet,	Wm. L. French.
H. H. Otis,

BUFFALO, Aug. 21, 1863.

Gentlemen of "The Army Committee"—

Your favor, of this date, asking a copy of my Thank-giving Sermon, preached at your request, in the interest of the U. S. Christian Commission, has been received.

The manuscript is no longer in my possession, having been yielded to other parties for publication. But if, in your judgment, an edition designed for distribution "especially among the brave men and officers of our army and navy," would contribute anything toward the furtherance of the great cause in which they are so nobly periling their lives, a copy will be cheerfully placed in your hands for that purpose.

I am, gentlemen, very faithfully yours,

HENRY SMITH.

Messrs. Hill, Ernst, Sexton and others.

THE FORTY-SEVENTH MASSACHUSETTS.—This regiment, which was expected to arrive in Utica yesterday morning between 7 and 8 o'clock, did not come until 10 o'clock. The people had again made generous contributions of refreshments, which were served out to them during their half-hour's stay. The sick, of which there were about forty with the train, were provided with broth, jellies, wine, lemons and other delicacies suited to their condition, and a number of kind ladies assisted in the distribution. The Major informed us that the regiment now numbered about 700 men, in addition to some 50 sick that have been left on the way. It numbered 970 when it arrived at New Orleans, about a year ago. It was mustered in by companies at different times last year, some of which have been in the service nearly a year, the entire regiment having been retained until the expiration of the time of the last company, July 31st.—Some of the men complain of this treatment, it seems to us with reason, unless the emergencies of the campaign rendered their retention essential. The regiment has never been in battle, though some of the men have been permitted to have foretastes in the way of skirmishing. It was on guard duty at New Orleans the most of the time after its first arrival in that city. Some of the officers told of a march up into the Teche region after it had been cleared out by our army; we did not inquire into the particulars. A fine brass band of sixteen performers is attached to the regiment. The following are the regimental officers:

Col. Lucius B. Marsh, Lieut. Col. Albert Stickney, Major Augustus S. Cushman, Adjutant Eli C. Kinsley, Quartermaster Geo. M. Nichols.

Four companies of the Forty-seventh Massachusetts were raised at Boston, two at Cambridge, and other companies at Concord, Charlestown, and Attleboro.

We are indebted to Major CUSHMAN for copies of New Orleans papers.

ROME.—Lieut. Col. ARMSTRONG has received instructions from the U. S. recruiting officer at Albany to sell at auction on Thursday, the barracks, buildings and fixtures at Camp Huntington.

FUNERAL OF NEW ENGLAND SOLDIERS.—Yesterday afternoon the funeral of three soldiers left here by returning New England regiments, took place from the General Hospital. The burial place was Forest Lawn, where an unexpectedly large concourse of people had assembled. Rev. Dr. Lord conducted the service at the graves and delivered a discourse which is spoken of by those who heard it as not only eminently appropriate to the occasion, but in a high degree eloquent.

Thus ten of the way-worn travelers from Fort Hudson have gone home—but not to New England. Under the green sod of Forest Lawn, they rest from their labor and fever and wars.

We are told that of the twenty or thirty patients remaining, several are probably fated to die here, though all, yesterday, seemed much invigorated by the change in the weather.

TO VISITORS AT THE HOSPITAL.—We are requested by the officers of the Buffalo General Hospital to state, that for the present no person can be admitted to the wards of the hospital to see the soldiers, except such persons as are required to attend upon the sick. Persons visiting the hospital with delicacies or articles for the soldiers, are respectfully requested to leave them in the Reception Room, where they will be most thankfully received, and any inquiries that may be made in regard to any of the sick, will be answered. This becomes necessary on account of the feeble and prostrate condition of a number of the poor, worn out soldiers, who need quiet and rest.

ANOTHER REGIMENT THIS MORNING.—The following dispatch was received at the Utica Telegraph Office last evening:

BUFFALO, Aug. 21, 1863.

JOHN J. FLANAGAN:

The 48th Massachusetts will leave Buffalo at 12 o'clock to-night. They have taken supper at Erie, and will not eat here. The ladies of Utica will be appreciated if they do by them as by other regiments. There are 690 in all, of whom 30 are sick. W. L. DOYLE, Operator.

And now good ladies, good citizens, it is necessary that you should hurry in your contributions to the Fuller House, and that they should, in the matter of bread and meats, be very liberal. Sliced meats are especially wanted; the previous supply is exhausted; they are what the brave soldiers relish most and need most; send in all you can prepare. The regiment will probably reach here about 9 or 9½ o'clock this morning; hence the donations should be sent to the place designated as early as 8 o'clock. Let us be quite ready to extend to the 48th Massachusetts hospitalities equal to those of last evening to the 49th.

The Business Committee are requested to meet at the Fuller House at 8 o'clock this morning.

THE 49TH MASSACHUSETTS.—It was about fifteen minutes before eight o'clock last evening when the 49th Massachusetts regiment arrived at the depot on a train of twenty cars. The vigilance committee and their vigilant aids had made their preparations on a more extensive scale than heretofore, in order that this large regiment of 715 men might be suitably accommodated and refreshed. The long neat tables were again put

... in and east of the depot, and lengthened some hundreds of feet. Below the depot where the gas fixtures were not, the kerosene lamps of Wide Awake and Little Giant days were thickly distributed and made to assist in dispersing the darkness of the hour and place. Contributions had come in liberally, and before the train arrived the tables were supplied with cheerful crockery, and abundantly laden with yet more cheerful food. Besides the usual complement of coffee, biscuits, sandwiches, cakes, and meats, there were platters heaped with warm boiled potatoes, a good supply of different varieties of pickles, pies and other niceties—a feast fit to make all who looked upon it hungry. The ladies who lent their assistance never looked more kind and smiling, and many of them stood ready to wait on the sick, with wines and cordials, and such other delicacies as were needed.

Such a crowd as was at the depot, to see and greet the 49th, has not been there since the reception of the 14th and 26th regiments. The people began to gather before 7 o'clock, and continued to flock depot-ward until the number was estimated at five or six thousand. It was found expedient, in consequence of the press, to detail a number of the 14th Heavy Artillery to stand guard and keep the thousands outside the prescribed boundaries.

The regiment was greeted with cheers, and and thunders from DUNN & MORRISON'S battery on its arrival, and responded with other cheers and martial music. It was pleasant to see the soldiers' faces light up as they looked over the well-spread tables and smelt the fragrance of the coffee cups. They had had nothing to eat since morning, at Buffalo. As they filed out of the cars and into position it was remarked by many that a finer appearing body of soldiers had not been seen in Utica. A much more stalwart regiment physically than most others, it also appears to have considerably more than its share of intelligence; and as to their faces the ladies were charmed. And such cheery prattle and bustle as these good ladies distributed among the handsome soldier faces cannot be out-did by any other ladies of any other town; of this we are absolutely certain; and the owners of the handsome faces will remember them to the everlasting honor of Utica—we heard them say they would. They had received handsome treatment, they said, at Buffalo, Cleveland, and other places along their route, but Utica was ahead—Utica ladies did beat all. And so it is no wonder that they went off cheering vociferously for the ladies of Utica. Although not deputized to do so, we think we can safely take the responsibility of thanking the ladies of Utica, in behalf of Utica, for contributing so much to our good name. And they will do in like manner again to-day, of course, and whenever there is occasion. Some of the ladies had prepared pretty bouquets, and did not forget to distribute them.

The field officers of the 49th Massachusetts are:

Col. W. F. Bartlett, of Boston; Lieut. Col. S. P. Sumner, of Great Barrington; Major Charles T. Plunkett, of Pittsfield; Adj. B. C. Miffin, of Boston; Quartermaster H. B. Brewster, of Pittsfield; Surgeon E. Winsor, of Boston; Asst. Surgeon A. R. Rice, of Springfield.

The Colonel, Lieut. Colonel and Adjutant were wounded in the assault on Port Hudson on the 27th of May, and have not been in the service since. Major PLUNKETT, a splendid looking officer, some inches over six feet tall, was in command. The other officers were not much behind him in fine looks. Citizens who looked after the sick inform us that they were all very comfortable, and better cared for than those of the previous regiments have been. They say that Surgeons WINSOR and RICE are evidently just the men for their positions, and deserving of the highest credit.

The 49th Massachusetts was mostly raised in Berkshire county, Mass. It was mustered in with 960 men at Pittsfield August 18th, 1862; for nine months, and has therefore served three months over its time. Before going to the seat of war, it did provost duty about a month at New York city. It went to New Orleans with the rear of the BANKS' expedition, remained about two weeks in the Crescent City, then proceeded to Carrollton, then to Baton Rouge, at or near which place it continued until the investment of Port Hudson. It was at the latter place with the advance of the besieging army, and there constituted a part of the 1st Brigade of the 1st (Gen. AUGUR's) Division. The regiment was engaged in the first assault on Port Hudson, May 27th, and fought with conspicuous gallantry. Its brigade was commanded by Gen. CRAPIN, of Buffalo, who was killed. Its Colonel, Lieutenant, Colonel and Adjutant were wounded in the same engagement, as we have stated. Col. BARTLETT, who had before this been attached to the 20th Massachusetts, and had lost a leg at Yorktown, was the only officer who went into the fight mounted, and thus became a special mark for the rebel bullets; he was hit in the foot and arm. Sixty per cent. of the officers of the regiment engaged were either killed or wounded, and thirty-three per cent. of the privates. In the assault of the 14th of June the regiment also bravely participated, and lost 40 men. After the surrender of Port Hudson, it went to Donaldsonville, and assisted in the fight at that place of the 13th of July, losing about 30 men. It had returned to New Orleans with the expectation of returning home by way of the Gulf and Ocean, when on the 9th instant it received orders to move up the Mississippi. It reached Cairo so as to leave that place on Tuesday last, and see, hear, taste, compliment and cheer for Utica last night.

ARRIVAL OF THE 49TH MASSACHUSETTS.—
 About 6 o'clock yesterday the 49th Massachusetts Regiment arrived at the depot on their homeward journey, and were treated to a bountiful breakfast by the unwearied Committee on Reception. The 49th was raised in Berkshire county, Mass., and was originally 979 strong; it numbers now 745 men. The Colonel, Wm. F. Bartlett, wounded, and Lieut. Col. Samuel B. Sumner, sick, were left behind, and the regiment is under command of Major Charles T. Plunkett. The Adjutant is B. C. Mifflin; Assistant Surgeon, Rice; Quartermaster, M. H. Brewster. The regiment has forty-eight sick. These were kindly cared for, and about 9 o'clock the train moved eastward, amid enthusiastic cheers of the refreshed and comforted soldiers.

ARRIVAL OF RETURNING REGIMENTS.—The 53d Massachusetts and 23d Connecticut regiments passed through the city on their way home, since our last. The first reached the city between eleven and twelve o'clock on Saturday night. They did not stand in immediate need of refreshments, having supped at Erie a short time before. The committee were at their post, however, and ministered to the wants of the sick. The officers of this regiment are—Colonel, J. W. Kimball; Lieut. Col., Geo. H. Barrett; Major, Jas. A. Pratt; Adjt., Henry A. Willis; Quartermaster, Edward A. Brown; Chaplain, B. F. Whitmore; Surgeon, J. Q. A. McColester; Assistant Surgeon, Mr. Bond. The Regiment, when organized, was 934 strong, and now numbers 635 men, including five or six left at various points on the way, and about fifty sick at this place. None of those on the sick list are dangerously ill. The 53d participated in the terrible charges on Port Hudson in May and June. The loss in officers was three Captains and three Lieutenants. Both officers and men are now doing well.

The 23d Conn. arrived about 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon, and not having been so fortunate as their friends of the 53d, were in a condition to do ample justice to the bountiful repast provided for them by the kind committee and citizens. It numbers between seven and eight hundred, and has not suffered as severely as most of the other nine months' regiments. In the fight at Brashear City seven companies were captured, and the officers of four of them are now prisoners in Texas. Col. C. L. Holmes, who has been at home some time on sick leave, came west and met the regiment here.

The following "card of thanks" is from the officers of the 23d:

BUFFALO, Aug. 23, 1863.
 The officers and soldiers of the 23d Conn. Regiment would take this method to express their gratitude and pleasure to the citizens of Buffalo for the kind greeting and sympathy, and the excellent repast received at the hands of the committee at the depot, and we beg leave to assure them that the kind and delicate attention of the ladies of the city to the sick of the regiment will ever be gratefully remembered by them, and from many a Connecticut mother's and wife's and sister's heart the grateful prayer shall rise to the soldiers' God that their kindness may be repaid by tenfold blessings, and the sweet consciousness of a labor of love well performed.

C. W. WORDEN, Lieut.-Col. Command'g.
 DAVID H. MILLER, Major.
 J. H. WHITING, Adjutant.
 C. W. HALL, Quartermaster.
 WM. H. TROWBRIDGE, Surgeon.

THE CONSCRIPTIOIN RELIEF COMMITTEE.—The Conscriptioin Relief Committee may be found at the Council Chamber each afternoon, ready to receive applications for assistance. The Committee require the observance of the following regulations:

Before recording any application, the conscript shall have submitted himself to examination by the Board and been declared liable and able to perform military duty. A book has been prepared, in which the applicant is required to record his residence, age, where employed, amount of wages, habits, trade or occupation, and the amount of rent paid. He must also give the names, ages, occupation and wages of the several members of his family dependent on him for support. He is also obliged to answer, in writing, the following questions:

- Does the applicant belong to any benevolent association?
- If applicant is married, when, where and by whom?
- Has he property, real or personal, and of what value?
- Has his family property, real or personal, and of what value?
- Who is owner or agent of the house in which he lives?
