CERTIFICATES of Exemption from the draft are prepared by Daniel E. Keyser, Notary Public for Ulster County, at the office of Messrs. Schoonmaker and Hardenbergh, in John street, Kingston.

INCIDENTS OF THE DRAFT.--An honest, hard working Irishman of this town, who was drafted on Monday, drew from one of our banks on Tuesday $1000, which by his industry and economy, he had managed to deposit. On the day following he appeared before his employer and demanded a settlement. Ignorant of the fact that his laborer had been drafted, the employer requested an explanation of his strange proceedings, when he broke forth as follows: "Be jabers, they have turned me name out of the whale. and now I want them to turn the whale agin, and see if they can tell where I am." This man is probably now in a region where the "whale" is not put in operation.

Jacob Brink, of Pine Bush, in this town secured a substitute for his son who was drafted, and paid him $325. The substitute was examined by the Surgeon, passed and furnished with a uniform throughout. He was then sent under guard to Perrine's Hotel to get his supper. The guard remained in the bar-room while the substitute procured his rations. He made his exit through a back door and has not since been heard from.

Jacob Gildersleeve, of the Rondout Freeman, and Philip E. Parmelee, foreman of the Kingston Journal office were the only printers drafted in this county.

Two dead men were drafted from this town. They have not yet reported. Two men from Woodstock had each three sons drafted, and another two sons and a son-in-law.

Steuben Dewey, aged 46, and his son, under 20, were drafted from this town.

TREASONABLE INSURANCE.

RATHER EXPENSIVE.—William D. Hill, of Kingston, went into the insurance business recently, insuring men against the Draft.—He insured three men in Delaware county for one hundred dollars each. Two of the number were drafted, imposing a loss upon the insurer of four hundred dollars.—Rondout Cour.

If the Courier's statement be true, as we presume it is, William D. Hill ought not to escape with so light a punishment as the loss of four hundred dollars for so grave an offence. He should at once be arrested for persuading men not to enter the army against the rebellion. Every man he insures against the draft is thereby induced to stay at home. He has simply to pay his premium of insurance, which he does at once, and then the insurer is bound to pay the three hundred dollars commutation money if the insured is drawn. No doubt, the greater portion of those who intended to go, if drafted, would quickly accept the offer to be excused by the payment of one hundred dollars to stay at home. If such insurance were general, the number of those who repair to the field, small as it is, would be smaller still. If this draft is intended for raising men, Mr. Hill is opposing its very object, and should be held to trial for his treasonable conduct in opposing the administration in the prosecution of the war.

THE DRAFT.

The draft for this District, which commenced on Monday morning of last week, was finished on Wednesday afternoon, the entire quota having been drawn. Commencing with Kingston, Greene County was next taken, when Ulster County was finished, in the order in which they appear in this paper. With one or two exceptions, every town was represented when the draft was made, some of them in large force. The utmost decorum was manifested while the wheel was in operation, only an occasional demonstration of applause being given when some favorite individual's name was announced. The following process was adopted in drawing the names, which was done at the rate of about three in a minute; Capt. McMahon turned the wheel, Henry Van Buren drew the card from the box, passed it over to Marshal Fiero, who announced the name in a loud tone, which was repeated by D. L. Decker, to the crowd below. The card was then passed over to Abm. A. Deyo, Jr., who deposited it in a ballot box, while the clerks made the register on books prepared for the purpose. Commissioner Pierce and Surgeon Knapp were the inspectors. With this village, taken in a political view, there is a preponderance in favor of the Democrats in the lottery. Some of the most rabid abolitionists and extreme administration men were drawn, who now, when their sincerity is tested, are devising every conceivable means to avoid shouldering the musket. A few of the abolitionists have become converted, and are at present as loud in their denunciations of the Lincoln administration, as they were firm in its support only last week.

The draft falls rather heavily on poor men of families hereabouts—those whose support is derived only from their daily labor. We trust that our citizens will come to the relief of such men, indiscriminately, and provide means to assist them or their families, in case they prefer to go to war. A little assistance from each will furnish a fund that may pay the exemption, or place the family left behind in a condition of comfort.— Let not poor families be made to suffer for lack of energy on the part of those who have the means or who have escaped the cruel conscription. Let a subscription paper be started at once for each of these persons, and we are confident that money enough can be raised to serve the end proposed.

THE ABOLITION DOMINIE AND HIS FRIEND.

The last Kingston Argus is down on our friend Rev. Mr. McKown. It begins an article in its issue of this week with the remark that it regards criticisms of sermons "in very bad taste, to say the least," and then pitches in to the extent of two columns of abuse, merely to illustrate its taste in the matter, we suppose. Mr. McKown will allow us to congratulate him on having won the ill will of the Argus, for all his friends consider it a high honor to him.—[Poughkeepsie Eagle.]

It was to be expected that such an intense abolition paper as the Eagle would come to the help of its friend, the Dominie, when engaged in making stump speeches on the abolition side, in his pulpit. This is entirely natural. But we have a few questions to put to the Eagle, which that paper will of course answer.

Does the Eagle, like its friend, Mr. McKown, regard our first defeat at Bull Run as "the greatest blessing of the war", because without such a result the abolition measures might not have been adopted? Does the Eagle approve of Mr. McKown's denunciation of Gov. Seymour as a traitor? Does the Eagle, its friend, claim that there was an arrangement between the traitors of the South and the North, as represented by Mr. McKown? Does the Eagle approve of the delivery of political harangues by ministers of the Gospel from their pulpits? "Answer me that!"

SHAMEFUL SWINDLING OF CONSCRIPTS.

It is evident that there has been, and still is, the most disgraceful connivance between the executive officers under the Conscription Act and the substitute brokers, by which conscripts are most villainously defrauded. Both classes represent that those who pay the three hundred dollars to government as commutation for their exemption from military duty are liable again at the very next draft that may be ordered. Such was the construction of the act by the Provost Marshal General, sustained by the Solicitor of the War Department, and in consequence large sums are extorted from those upon whom the burthens of the conscription fall. Those who cannot leave their homes are thus induced to procure substitutes upon such terms as are demanded.

The construction of the act by the War Department was so entirely at variance with a common sense view of the question, that several gentlemen distinguished for their high legal attainments, have given professional opinions as an act of duty. All agree that the payment of the three hundred dollars entitles the conscript paying it to exemption from military duty for three years. The law provides for a draft of persons who shall serve during the war, not to exceed three years, and that persons drafted may furnish substitutes or pay three hundred dollars, and they hold that the payment of the commutation money secures an exemption from all liability to military duty for the term of the draft; that is for the term of three years for which the draft is made. Hon. Thaddeus Stevens, the Administration leader in the House has also published a letter to the same effect.

The War Department has finally, it seems, accepted this construction of the act. At Washington, certificates are now issued by the Board to those furnishing substitutes and those paying the money exempting them from military duty for the term for which they were drafted. They state that the person "by reason of having paid the commutation money, is exempt from all liability to military duty for the term of this draft." This settles the question. The term of the draft is three years unless the war shall sooner end.

And yet, the War Department has not published the construction now given to the law. It was the duty of the Department to make its last decision public, benefit of the conscripts. But instead of this, the game of defrauding them is still going on day after day. The officers of this district, as well as the substitute brokers here, still insist that the payment of three hundred dollars by a conscript will not exempt him from the very next draft that may be ordered. Such impositions upon those who bear the oppressive burthens, exceed in baseness all the other frauds that have come to light. Whether or not the officials and the brokers divide the money thus wrung from the heavily oppressed Conscripts we cannot say, but the obstinate stubbornness of Marshal Fiero in adhering to a ridiculous construction of the act after it has been abandoned by the War Department, and the remarkable activity of the brokers in sending conscripts to the Marshal for correct information give a very suspicious look to the management of the matter by both parties. But be it as it may, with entire confidence in the correctness of the position, we assure those interested that THE PAYMENT OF THREE HUNDRED DOLLARS COMMUTATION MONEY BY A CONSCRIPT, EXEMPTS HIM FROM MILITARY DUTY FOR THREE YEARS, that being the term of the draft. If substitutes are offered for three hundred dollars or less, we advise conscripts who cannot go themselves to employ them, but whatever amount over three hundred dollars is paid for a substitute is so much money thrown away. But we advise the employment of substitutes when it can be done on right terms, for the reason that if there is any need whatever of the conscription, it is to raise MEN and not money. If the draft be to raise money it is the most unfair way that could be devised.
