REPORT OF THE ADJUTANT GENERAL

Albany, January 1, 1931

Six:—Herewith is submitted the report of The Adjutant General of the State respecting the administration of the Division of Military and Naval Affairs of the Executive Department for the year 1930.

NATIONAL GUARD

The tactical and administrative organization of the National Guard has remained practically unchanged throughout the year. A high state of efficiency continues to be maintained. The active strength of the formation on this date is 1,345 officers, 20 warrant officers, and 19,781 enlisted men, a total aggregate of 21,146.

For changes in organization, field training dates, service school graduates, small arms matches, award of decorations and strength tables, see Appendix D.

FEDERAL STATUS

There is every indication that Congress will pass legislation in the near future which will amend the National Defense Act, by removing therefrom the clause which provides that the National Guard is a part of the Army of the United States only when called or drafted into Federal service.

Experienced National Guard officers from all sections of the United States have worked diligently on this problem for many years and have at last found a solution which is acceptable to the War Department and the National Guard as well.

The proposed amendments do not effect the peace time status of National Guard troops in any way; they remain as heretofore, under the sole jurisdiction, authority and command of the Governors of the respective States. However, to use the words of the amendment, it becomes "a reserve organization of the Army of the United States composed of those persons duly commissioned by the Governors of their respective States, . . ., in the National Guard of the several States, . . ., who have taken and subscribed to the oath of office prescribed in section 73 of this Act, and who have been duly appointed by the President in the National Guard of the United States, as provided in this Act; and of those persons duly enlisted in the National Guard of the several States . . . , who have taken and subscribed to the oath of enlistment prescribed in section 70 of this Act."

Under the above amendment in the event of a major emergency, the National Guard can be "called" or "ordered" into Federal service by the President, without the necessity of being "drafted." The latter operation being most distasteful and unpopular with National Guard forces. In the World war the National Guard was drafted and at the conclusion of its active service was discharged not only from Federal service but further State service as well.

Another amendment suggested by the undersigned and approved for inclusion in the present House Bill, provides "That no change in allotment, branch, or arm of units or organizations wholly within a single state will be made without approval of the governor of the state concerned."

This amendment is important to the extent that it insures the future stability or performance of our present tactical organization. In the past nothing tended to so impair efficiency among the commissioned personnel of units as recurrent rumors or even recommendations that established units be transferred to some other branch or arm of the service.

Again in the construction of costly armories, such changes involve a waste of State funds or huge expenditure of additional funds as the case may be. A field artillery armory with stables, rink and gun sheds is practically valueless for training foot troops, while infantry armories have little or no practical value for the drill of mounted troops.

The report of the Commanding General, New York National Guard, is attached hereto as Appendix A.

NAVAL MILITIA

The active strength of the Naval Militia on this date is 135 officers and 1,982 enlisted men, a total aggregate of 2,117.

With respect to the administration of Naval Militia-Naval Reserve units in their dual capacity of both State and Federal forces, the present situation is unsatisfactory.

Under the present administration of Naval Militia affairs in the Third Naval District, no official recognition, directly or indirectly, is given to State naval militia agencies. Orders effecting administration and personnel of naval reserve-naval militia battalions and divisions within the State are forwarded direct to the commanding officers of such units, and the only knowledge of such orders, received by the legally constituted naval militia authorities of the State, is contained in copies made and forwarded by subordinates to the Commanding Officer of the Naval Militia.

In the light of the fact that the State of New York, acting upon the assumption that the New York Naval Militia is housed, recruited, and maintained with a view of supplementing the National sea defense in the event of an emergency declared by Congress, the State annually appropriates a larger sum for its general maintenance than that allocated by the Navy Department for the support of these identical forces.

It is hoped that a project recently prepared by a committee appointed by the Adjutants General Association of the United States, comprising the Adjutants General of New York, Connecticut, Illinois, Minnesota and Wisconsin, will be acceptable to the Secretary of the Navy. This project provides for a reorganization of the Naval Reserve as a separate reserve component of the U. S. Navy, along the lines under which the National Guard now functions as a separate and distinct component of the Army of the United States.

Until adjustment of the matter has been concluded it is believed state appropriations for naval militia armory construction, under the state's priority programme, should be held in abeyance.

The report of the Commanding Officer, New York Naval Militia, is attached hereto as Appendix B.

RESERVE COMPONENTS

National Guard Reserve.—The present strength of the National Guard Reserve is 247 officers and 1,261 enlisted men.

State Reserve.—The present strength of the State Reserve is 376 officers.

State Retired List.—The present strength of the Retired List is 189 officers.

Independent Organizations.—The recognized independent military organizations of the State have an active membership on this date of 758 officers and men.

The total strength of all uniformed forces indicated above

Active officers and men	23,263
Reserve and retired officers and men	2,073

NEW ARMORY CONSTRUCTION

During the 1930 session of the Legislature appropriations were made and approved by Your Excellency in the sum of $864,000 for armory construction, as follows:

New Field Artillery Armory, Newburg	$300,000
New Field Artillery Armory, Kingston	300,000
Reconstruction Infantry Armory, Syracuse	250,000
Reconstruction Cavalry stable, Buffalo	10,000
Survey, plans, etc, for:
New Field Artillery Armory, Peekskill	2,000
Reconstruction Infantry and Field Artillery
Armory, Binghamton	2,000

During the year the new cavalry armory at Utica was occupied by Troop A, 121st Cavalry. This armory is perhaps the finest and most complete building of its kind in the United States.

The new Infantry armory at Onedia was also opened for occupancy during the late summer and covers every possible requirement for a rifle company.

The reconstruction of the Hudson armory, made necessary by fire which practically destroyed the building, was completed in November and is now occupied by troops.

In the report of the undersigned for the year 1927, a priority list of armory requirements was submitted to the Governor, in which it was indicated that it is not decreed good policy to recommend the construction of an armory in any city or town where a military or naval unit has been stationed for less than five years. In such cases should the unit fail to meet Federal efficiency requirements, through lack of officer material, loss of strength or other causes, it might be found necessary to transfer the unit to another locality. In such an event the new and expensive state armory would become practically a total loss.

This policy has been attacked from tiem to time with more or less earnestness by representatives of communities anxious to obtain new armories, but in no case has the Legislature made any deviation from the approved priority plan.

The list now appears, in point of urgency, as follows:

Binghamton (reconstruction)	$250,000
Peekskill (new)	300,000
New Rochelle Naval Militia (new)	200,000
Schenectady (reconstruction or new)	300,000
Utica Infantry (reconstruction)	200,000
Syracuse Artillery (new)	300,000
Mount Vernon (new)	300,000
Poughkeepsie (new)	300,000
Geneseo (new stable)	75,000
Albany Infantry (reconstruction)	100,000
Niagara Falls (reconstruction)	50,000
Middletown (new)	300,000
Jamestown (new)	250,000
Corning (new)	250,000
Ticonderoga (new)	250,000
Dunkirk (new)	200,000
Rome (new)	150,000
Rochester Cavalry (enlargement)	75,000
* · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	,

In connection with this priority list the following data is submitted:

Binghamton.—Present structure built in 1904 (26 years old). Originally constructed to accommodate a regimental headquarters, one unit of infantry and one unit of field artillery. At present occupied by battalion headquarters and three units of infantry and battalion headquarters and three units of field artillery. Has no accommodations for animals. Stables are rented for this purpose at a cost of $1,800 per annum. It is estimated that additions could be made to this armory which would provide adequate quarters at a cost of $250,000, plus cost of land, which is a county charge.

Peekskill.—Present structure rented. A service battery of field artillery now occupies inadequate quarters for which a rental of $4,800 per annum is paid. The county of Westchester has purchased an excellent site under a requisition of this office, and drawings and specifications are in process of completion for an armory to cost approximately $300,000.

New Rochelle.—Present structure rented at $4,500 per annum. A naval militia division in State service since 1911 has occupied several inadequate buildings. The city of New Rochelle has, through legislative enactment, presented the State with a fine water front site. It is estimated an armory and boat house can be constructed at a cost of $200,000.

Schenectady.—Present structure built in 1897 (is 33 years old). Originally built to accommodate two infantry units. At present occupied by battalion headquarters and four units of infantry. It is estimated additions could be made which would provide adequate quarters at a cost of $300,000, plus cost of additional land by the county.

While the location of this armory is ideal from a military standpoint, it may be found expedient to procure a new site containing ample ground for outdoor drill. In such a case additional funds may be procured through county agencies.

Utica Infantry.—Present structure built in 1894 (is 36 years old). Originally built to accommodate two infantry units. At present occupied by battalion headquarters and three infantry units. It is estimated that additions could be made to this armory which would provide adequate quarters at a cost of $150,000, plus cost to county for additional land.

Syracuse Artillery.—Present structure rented. A battery of field artillery organized in 1911 has occupied the Arena building at a rental that has increased from $3,500 to $8,500. A modern armory should be built for this unit at a cost of $300,000, plus cost to county for land.

Mount Vernon.—Present structure built in 1898 (is 32 years old). Originally built for one infantry unit. At present occupied by a battery of field artillery. Has no accommodations for animals. Is the smallest State armory and entirely inadequate for present day requirements. A new armory should be provided at a cost of $300,000.

Poughkeepsie.—Present structure built in 1891 (is 39 years old). Originally built for one infantry unit. At present occupied by a battery of field artillery. Has no accommodations for animals. A new armory should be provided at a cost of $300,000.

Geneseo.—The armory facilities for a troop of cavalry are adequate, but the stable for the housing of approximately 75 animals is of wood construction, and is a fire-trap. A new stable should be provided at a cost of $75,000.

Albany Infantry.—Present structure built in 1891 (is 39 years old). Originally built for a regimental headquarters, four infantry units and a signal unit. At present occupied by regimental headquarters, seven infantry units, a medical battalion headquarters, and one medical unit. It is estimated additions could be made that would provide adequate quarters at a cost of $100,000.

Niagara Falls.—Present structure built in 1895 (is 35 years old). Originally built for one infantry unit. At present occupied by battalion headquarters, three infantry units and a division of Naval Militia. It is estimated that additions could be made to this armory that would provide adequate quarters at a cost of $50,000.

Middletown.—Present structure built in 1890 (is 40 years old). Originally built for one infantry unit, now occupied by two units of field artillery. Has no accommodations for animals. A new armory should be provided at a cost of $300,000.

Jamestown.—Present structure built in 1892 (is 38 years old). Originally built for one infantry unit. No accommodation for present day field equipment. So located that enlargement is impossible. Location poor for military purposes. A new armory should be provided at a cost of $250,000.

Corning.—Present structure rented and inadequate for proper training of a medical unit. An armory should be provided at a cost of $250,000, plus cost to county for land.

Ticonderoga.—Present structure rented and inadequate for proper training of a medical unit. An armory should be provided at a cost of $250,000, plus cost to county for land.

Dunkirk.—Present structure rented. A naval militia division in State service since 1912, has occupied part of a building which is inadequate for proper training. Naval Militia armories should be along shore. An armory and boat house should be constructed at a cost of $200,000, plus cost to county for land.

Rome.—Present structure rented and inadequate for proper training of a medical unit. An armory should be provided at a cost of $150,000, plus cost to county for land.

Rochester Cavalry.—Originally built for a troop of cavalry. At present occupied by regimental headquarters and two cavalry units. It is estimated additions could be made that would provide adequate quarters at a cost of $75,000.

CLOTHING, EQUIPMENT AND SUPPLIES

The Federal military equipment and munitions in the possession of the various National Guard organizations or in storage at the State Arsenal or at the camps of instruction within the State on this date have a value of approximately seventeen and one-half million dollars ($17,500,000).

The equipment of the Air Corps of the State has proceeded in a satisfactory manner. The Air Corps is now equipped with:

- 2 Airplanes, Cons. Courier, type 0-17.
- 5 Airplanes, Observation, Curtiss, 0-11.1 Airplane, Observation, Douglas 0-2K.
- 1 Airplane, P. T.-1, training planes.
- 4 Airplanes, Douglass 0-38.

All organizations of the New York National Guard are fully uniformed, armed and equipped for active service in the field.

The following is a statement of unserviceable property dropped by reports of survey and Inventory and Inspection Reports for the fiscal year 1930:

The value of the Federal property of all classes dropped during the fiscal year 1929 was valued at $388,394.46. The value of unserviceable property condemned and dropped under Survey Reports and Inventory and Inspection Reports for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930, was value at $326,505.73. There is a noticeable improvement during the two (2) years mentioned, both in the care of property and the maintenance of property records.

The present allowance of horses is 1,060, the assignment of which is as follows:

	Government	77 - 3 12 3
	ownea	Federalized
Cavalry	. 304	275
Artillery		129

making a total of 954 horses. Steps are being taken to secure 106 additional horses from War Department agencies to complete the State's allotment.

With respect to the Naval Militia, clothing, equipment and munitions are drawn direct from naval bases and are uniformly satisfactory. The value of Federal naval equipment in the possession of the various Naval Militia—Naval Reserve organizations is estimated at $1,279,606.

PENSIONS AND CLAIMS

During the year two claims were adjusted for pay and care of soldiers and sailors injured in line of duty.

There are 59 persons receiving military pensions on this date. Since last report three pensioners of this class died and two new pensioners have been added to the list.

BLIND VETERANS FUND

There are at this date 73 war veterans who receive $500 per annum, for permanent and total disability, by reason of loss of sight. Since last report four blind pensioners have died and 32 new pensioners have been added to the list.

VETERANS' RELIEF BUREAU

Applications for relief to date total 9,738; of this number 8,388 have received relief, of whom 159 have received $500.

Actual payments for relief of sick and disabled veterans to date amount to $1,660,594.92. Expenses of relief commissioners and administration to date are $241,412.89. The expendable balance is $32,028.24, of this balance the sum of $28,070.46 is in the hands of the commissioners.

The law provided for relief commissioner residing in each Assembly district. These commissioners serve without pay and are bonded in the sum of $2,000. Monthly payments to disabled veterans, determined by the commissioner, as provided by law shall not exceed the total sum of $250 to each applicant for relief. The Adjutant-General may approve an additional sum not to exceed $250 in particularly needy cases.

The commissioners are rendering a service to the State that deserve the highest commendation and praise.

SOLDIERS' BONUS BUREAU

Under constitutional authority a bonus for New York veterans of the World war was provided pursuant to chapter 19, Laws of 1924. The sum of $45,000,000 was realized from the sale of bonds authorized by said law, which sum was augmented by premiums in the amount of $659.565. The latter sum also being appropriated for bonus purposes under chapter 208, Laws of 1925.

A commission, consisting of the Adjutant-General, the Comptroller, the Treasurer and the Attorney-General, administered the disbursement until April 22, 1926. Thereafter its functions were absorbed by the Adjutant-General.

Each eligible veteran upon his application received the sum of $10 for each month of service with the colors, between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918, with $150 as the maximum payment. Under chapter 209, Laws of 1925, an additional appropriation of $2,500,000 was made. Chapter 26, Laws of 1925 added the next of kin to those who were killed or died in the service or prior to February 28, 1924, as eligible to receive the bonus. Under chapter 267, Laws of 1926, a further appropriation of $300,000 was approved, bringing the total amount for bonus purposes to $48,459,565, out of which there has been paid to date in bonuses and administration costs the sum of $48,434,935.44, leaving a balance of $24,629.56.

Under the law no original claim can be received after May 1, 1927. Since that date the bureau has received 280 claims upon which no action could be taken, and 1,937 requests for application blanks.

There are still in process of adjustment 6,016 claims, of which 4,488 are in the bureau and 1,528 in the hands of claimants. Assuming from past experiences that 50 per cent of this number will be finally approved for payment, it will require the sum of $353,289.60 or an additional appropriation of $328,660.04 plus the necessary expenses for administration.

There has been received to this date a total of 418,204 claims, of which 405,532 have been paid with the average payment per claim of $117.45. The overhead cost of $1.70 per claim is less than any other State has as yet reported. Of the total claims received 22,847 applicants are not credited as having enlisted from the State. Adding this number to the 518,864 veterans who were credited to the State, it would seem that there are still 123,431 actual New York State veterans who have never applied for the bonus.

EXAMINATIONS OF ENLISTED MEN FOR ADMISSION TO THE UNITED STATES MILITARY Λ CADEMY

The annual competitive examination for enlisted men of the National Guard for cadetships at the United States Military Academy was held, under the direction of this office, at New York City. Albany and Buffalo on November 7th and 8th.

Thirty-two candidates competed. The ten receiving the highest average of proficiency have been selected, with the approval of the Governor, to take the entrance examination on March 3, 1931, and if successful will enter the academy on July 1, 1931.

The practice of alloting these cadetships to soldiers of the National Guard was authorized by Congress, May 4, 1916, and since that time the manifest interest throughout the National Guard in this splendid educational opportunity has constantly increased Eligibility for appointment requires the candidates to be between the ages of 19 and 22 years, an enlisted man of a Federally recognized unit of the National Guard, who has served as a soldier therein not less than one year prior to date of entrance into the academy.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANKLIN W. WARD,

Major General, A. G. D., The Adjutant-General.

APPENDIX A

Report of the Commanding General, New York National Guard

The following report of the activities of the New York National Guard for the calendar year 1930, of its condition at the close of that year, and of the steps that are contemplated for its improvement, is made in accordance with paragraph 443, Regulations for the Military Forces of the State of New York.

Marked improvement in housing conditions has 1. General. been evidenced during the year that has passed. Several new armories were built and occupied, several others have been planned for early construction, and we experienced an exceptional vear in the amount of funds available for needed construction at our field training camps. Strength has been maintained to the very limit permitted, and what were considered as exceptionally high records of attendance in previous years have been bettered In target range qualifications also new high records Training has been amplified and improved in have been set. many respects, and administration and care of property have also progressed. A review by the Governor of a major portion of the National Guard and Naval Militia was successfully held in New York City for the first time after a long interval of years. and produced excellent results. In every respect I consider that we have enjoyed a most profitable and promising year.

2. Strength. Our average strength for the year has been about 21,000, and has closely approximated at all times the maximum allowed by the Militia Bureau of 21,483. The increases authorized by the Adjutant-General upon my recommendations have worked well, permitting added numbers where needed, and a closer approach at all times to the maximum allowed. Our maximum strength during the year was 21,409, in August; our minimum was 20,383, in January. Recruiting difficulties are still felt in certain scattered units, but as a whole we have no recruiting problem, and the majority of our units are able to set high standards and to secure applicants who meet these standards. Commanders of organizations whose units are located in the smaller towns throughout the State do report a difficulty in securing officer personnel. This may become a problem if the necessary expedients to overcome it are not figured out. At present it is apparent only locally.

3. Attendance. The attendance percentage for the annual armory inspection last spring was 93 per cent. I wish again to invite attention to the fact that these figures were taken at the hour set for the assembly, and include only the men in ranks at that hour. If an officer or man was not present in the ranks when the roll was called, he was "absent," no matter whether he had been present before the assembly or whether he was actually in some other part of the armory at the time. If not properly uniformed he was also marked "absent." These are rigid requirements, and yet, under these conditions, 19,186 officers and men were recorded as present for inspection. I consider this an excellent record. In regard to field training we felt, in 1928, by having 92.16 per cent. of our full strength present, that we had set a mark which was the best that we could attain. These former figures, however, were surpassed in 1930 by having 94.18 per cent. present. In all, 20,270 officers and men attended field training: 12,765 at Camp Smith; 4,180 at Pine Camp; 2,303 at Fort Ontario; 883 at Fort H. G. Wright, 67 at Fort Meade, and 72 Staff officers at various camps. The percentage of attendance for the year for all duties was 83.30. High attendance is good in itself as it shows that a full proportion of each command is receiving the necessary training; it is also an indication of morale, interest and enthusiasm.

4. Organization. No major changes in organization were made during 1930. It shall soon recommend certain changes of station for our signal troops. These changes have been carefully considered, and will, I believe, increase efficiency.

Brigadier General Edgar S. Jennings, who has commanded the 54th Brigade since its post-war organization, and who has served in the New York National Guard for a period of nearly forty years, from private to brigade commander (including the command of the 108th Infantry overseas), was this month placed upon the retired list at his own request. Colonel John S. Thompson, 108th Infantry, will be nominated to succeed him. General Jennings' long and able service, and his rise through all ranks from the lowest to the highest, is most creditable to himself, and is eminently characteristic of the traditional service of our Guard.

Of our organization commanders, Colonel John W. Kilbreth, 105th Field Artillery; Colonel Wade H. Hayes, 107th Infantry; Colonel Raphael A. Egan, 156th Field Artillery, and Major Walter E. Corwin, 27th Trains, have all been retired during the year at their own requests. These vacancies have been filled by the promotions of Lieut. Colonel Clarence H. Higginson, Lieut. Colonel Ralph C. Tobin, Captain J. Townsend Cassedy, and 1st Lieut. Robert H. Platz, respectively. Major George A. Vaughn, Jr., 27th Aviation, has been transferred to the newlyestablished post of Air Officer on my staff, and has been succeeded in direct command of the 27th Division Aviation by Captain Lawrence G. Brower, promoted to Major. Major Andrew C. Otto. Jr., commanding officer of the 101st Signal Battalion, has recently requested transfer to the reserve list. His transfer has not yet been accomplished. Vacancies in lower grades have also occurred and have been promptly filled.

5. Service in Aid of Civil Authorities. During the year there were no calls upon the National Guard for armed service in aid of the civil authorities. However, a great deal was done in preparation for such service. Our defense plans were carefully revised, brought up to date and redistributed. The organization of special "Emergency Squads" throughout the State was completed, special equipment was issued to them, and they were given special training in the use of that equipment. This special equipment was very difficult to obtain, as it is not a regular issue. Plans were finally worked out, however, which permitted of its being obtained and distributed and of its future replacement as needed, and I believe that we have made a most valuable and necessary forward step in this respect.

While not strictly "service in aid of civil authority" as we usually understand the term, I desire to invite your Excellency's special attention to a service that the National Guard is constantly rendering to the State, and of which little is generally known. I refer to the use of armories by the public.

The average citizen considers that our armories are solely for military use, and that, when not used for military purposes, they are closed, dark and vacant. Nothing could be farther from the truth, as is shown conclusively by a special investigation which I have recently caused to be made, the results of which show that a far diffierent conclusion must be drawn. Of course, the primary purpose of the armories is to provide training centers for the National Guard, and suitable facilities for other military activities: storage, care and preservation of military equipment, and rendezvous and mobilization centers. But the armories fulfill an additional civic service. My investigation shows that throughout the State nearly 10,000 of our citizens use our armories every day in the year, or a total of over three and a quarter million annually. The uses vary according to the size of the armory and of the town in which it is located. In the smaller communities the armory is in many instances the only large hall existing, and is therefore in demand for all purposes. In spite of this, these smaller armories are not used as much as the larger ones in our larger cities, where the multiplicity of interests makes for constant use.

My study shows that our armories were given free 11,868 times during the past year; that they were rented on 1,691 occasions, and that 3,389,250 people used them. This is an average per armory, per annum, of 158 times free and 22 times rented, and 45,189 attendants. The average number of civilians who use our armories every day is therefore 125 per armory, or nearly 10,000 per diem for the State. While this shows a use every second day, many of our city armories are used by the public every day in the year; in fact, they are in use in several different ways on the same day. At times the drill hall, the pistol and rifle ranges and various meeting rooms are all in use at the same time.

The purposes for which the armories are used are indeed interesting and cover a wide range. Of course, as is contemplated by the military law, their use by the G. A. R., Spanish War veterans, and the American Legion is universal, and permanent quarters are always assigned wherever possible. They are also used by Women's auxiliaries of the above associations, by bands and drill teams connected therewith, by sub-societies (such as the "Forty-an-Eight" of the American Legion), by Gold Star Mothers, and by associations of sons, wives and daughters of Civil War veterans.

In direct assistance to Federal and State authorities our buildings are used by the United States Army recruiting service, by the Post Office Department (especially during the Christmas rush—a very considerable use in the city of New York; as is also the issue of new automobile license plates, which is general throughout the The State Department of Labor has availed itself of our hospitality, as have also the State troopers and the Board of Elections. After the burning of the State troopers' barracks at Gedney Farms, the troopers were quartered for a long period in the White Plains armory. The use of armories by the police is constant throughout the year. A great deal of their small arms practice is conducted on our ranges, and a great deal of their recruit training is done under our roofs. Their New York City recruits are taught swimming and lifesaving in the tank in the 102nd Engineers armory, and have their graduating exercises in the 107th Infantry The New York City Police Band practices in the latter armory, and gives a concert there annually. In the squadron "A" armory an unused section of the stables is employed throughout the year by a platoon of the mounted traffic squad. In addition to the above, throughout the State, police and firemen's association dinners and meetings have been held.

The use of armories by high schools is also universal. School rifle teams—including girls' teams—use our ranges. Football, baseball, track, baseketball and lacrosse teams practice there and hold matches and contests. The large meets of the Public Schools Athletic League are held in our armories, as are also, throughout the State, school dances, fraternity meetings, physical drills, graduation exercises, glee club rehearsals, and model airplane and glider contests.

Toward fraternal and similar organizations I find that we have been liberal in our views. Facilities have been given to the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus, to Masons and Jewish centers, to Elks, Eagles, Moose and Foresters, to Hebrew and colored orphan homes and to the Salvation Army, to the French Church and the Daughters of Israel, to the Sons of Italy and the Turn Verein, the Kerrymen's and Mayomen's Associations, the Polish Society and many others.

I find that we have assisted the Board of Education and various Boards of Safety, chambers of commerce, Rotary, Lion and Kiwanis clubs, welfare leagues, the Dairymen's League, the State Grange and the New York State Horticultural Society. Where large halls were greatly needed we have supplied them for school exhibits, municipal flower shows, food shows, automobile shows, symphony and choral concerts, better-homes exhibits, and public nursing clinics. Our armories have been used by the officers' Reserve Corps and the Reserve Officers Training Corps for meetings, drills and rifle practice, and by Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts for rallies, tests and meetings. In addition to their use by the police and by schools as mentioned before, our ranges are used by civilian rifle and pistol teams, by the Finance Department of the United States Army, by railroad police, and by teams from banks, and insurance and protective companies.

In this connection I wish to emphasize the fact that while our armories are often rented (as provided by law), they are given free many more times than they are rented. The proportion is about one rental to nine occasions when no rental is charged. The question of rental is carefully guarded, and I am confident that the privilege is not abused. In fact, the above figures would indicate that a liberal policy is adopted in this respect by our officers in charge of armories.

While I felt that we were doing a great deal in connection with the use of armories by the public, I must admit that I myself was surprised at the extent and breadth of our activities; and I consider that my investigation clearly shows that our armories are very far from being "inactive capital," that they are much more than military storehouses alone, and that they are an asset to the community which cannot be overestimated.

In addition to the above, plans have recently been made to open our armories throughout the State to supply sleeping and feeding quarters for the unemployed and for other activities in connection with such relief work. The system has been established that the armories will be used to supplement the regular municipal establishments at the call of the municipal authorities. Several such calls have already been made and have been answered in full, as given in special reports, and we are prepared to answer future calls whenever and wherever made.

6. Training. Special progress was made in 1930 in target practice. Details are given in paragraph 7 of this report. For these results great credit is due to our present Senior Instructor, Colonel Alexander J. Macnab, Jr., United States Army, an expert in this branch of training. Our previous records in small arms firing were excellent, but under his direction still more progress was made, and I feel that our present individual training in this respect leaves little to be desired. Certainly to be effective in combat a soldier must know how to use the weapons with which he is armed, and our 1930 qualifications show that our soldiers do know this branch of their training. The next logical step is to teach them to shoot collectively, as squads, sections, platoons and companies, and our plan for 1931 will stress this training together with its natural corollary—the tactical handling of these combat units by the officers and non-commissioned officers who command them

We have continued the excellent Command Post Exercises which have characterized our instruction for several years. All regiments and brigades now have received excellent instruction in this important staff training, and the 27th Division Staff, during the 1930 field training period, conducted an exceptionally successful five-day command post exercise under the direction of Lieut. Colonel John F. Franklin and Major John W. Foos, United States Army, assisted by other instructors detailed for the purpose.

Our aviation had excellent practice this year in bombing, parachute jumping and machine gunnery, together with combined work with the artillery in radio communication and fire direction. They also took over from the United States Army, for the first year, the spotting and target towing for our anti-aircraft and heavy artillery, and I believe that with this year's experience they will be able to perform all such work for us in future. In connection with radio communications, we held a very successful series of school sessions in the 101st Signal Battalion armory last spring, under the direction of Lieut. Colonel Hampton Anderson of my staff, and Major Lawrence Watts, United States Army instructor, which was attended by personnel from all of our city artillery regiments and the 27th Division Aviation, and which was supplemented at its conclusion by practical work at Miller field. This course showed excellent results during the summer.

A good start was made during the year in chemical warfare instruction. In this very important branch of training we have been handicapped by a lack of available instructors. Last year it was possible to send Major Alfred D. Reutershan of my staff to the United States Army Chemical Warfare School at Edgewood Arsenal. On his return he conducted a very successful school, at the 27th Division Headquarters armory in New York City, which was attended by representatives from all of the metropolitan organizations, and during the field training season at Camp Smith he conducted a three-days' course of instruction for details from all of the organizations which attended that camp. A total of 59 officers and 419 enlisted men attended this course. instruction work was inspected by Major General Gilchrist, Chief of the Chemical Warfare Service of the United States Army, and on several occasions by Colonel Exton, Chemical Warfare officer of the Second Corps Area. Both spoke highly of our general plans and of the actual instruction which was given. I propose to send Major Reutershan next spring to take the advanced course at the Chemical Warfare School, and to amplify chemical warfare instruction throughout the Guard in the future.

We have kept up our organization schools throughout the year, and have been able to send many of our officers to army service schools, and also to secure appointments for a number of enlisted men to West Point. Details of these assignments will undoubtedly be contained in the report of the Adjutant-General.

I wish also to speak of the pleasure and benefit afforded by the frequent visits of your Excellency to our training camps. I know of nothing which has more effect upon the morale of our troops than such evidence of the interest of our Commander-in-Chief. I am especially pleased that you found it possible to visit Pine Camp in addition to Camp Smith. I wish it could be made possible for us to have the privilege of showing our camps and our troops to many more of those connected with our State government. I am sure that they would see much of interest, and I am confident they would find that our National Guard is making good use of the generous support which is given by the State.

In this connection I wish also to speak of the excellent results of the "Governor's Review," held at Van Cortlandt Park, New York City, on June 7, 1930. This review reacted most favorably upon our personnel, and gave them a chance to see other organiza-The appearance, training and material of our troops was commented upon most favorably by visitors from the Regular Army and Navy, the Militia Bureau, and from other states. believe that such a review might well be held during the term of every governor. To hold them too often would destroy the special feature of novelty, and would perhaps be burdensome, as we must recall at all times that our men are citizens as well as soldiers, and must earn their own living. Perhaps once every two years such a review would be excellent, and it should be held alternately in the various boroughs of New York City. I suggest also consideration of similar ceremonies at like intervals in Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, and possibly other cities where sufficient troops are concentrated. Both for training in staff work and for actual troop training they are decidedly advantageous.

During the summer our field training camps were visited, in addition to yourself, by former Governor Alfred E. Smith; Governor Morgan F. Larson, of New Jersey; General Charles P. Summerall, Chief of Staff of the United States Armory; Major General Hanson E. Ely, commanding the Second Corps Area, United States Army; Major General Stephen O. Fuqua, Chief of Infantry, United States Army; Major General Harry L. Gilchrist, Chief of Chemical Warfare Service of the Army; Major General Harry G. Bishop, Chief of Field Artillery, United States Army; Major General Hugh A. Drum, Inspector General of the Army; Major General William G. Everson, Chief of the Militia Bureau; Major General William R. Smith, Superintendent of the United States Military Academy; Senator Royal S. Copeland, State Comptroller Morris S. Tremaine, State Attorney-General Hamilton Ward, State Assemblymen W. Ray Austin and Louis A. Cuvillier, Mayor James J. Walker of New York City; Honorable Joseph V. McKee, President of the Board of Aldermen of New York City, and many others-including, on one occasion, all of the village officials of Peekskill and Cortlandt. The Military Police records for Camp Smith show that over 25,000 motor cars visited the camp during the summer, bringing 75,000 visitors. In addition, at least an equal number came by other means of transportation. On one occasion nineteen large motor buses brought parties to camp. This record was surpassed on the occasion of your visit to the 369th Infantry, when twenty-six large buses were parked there. In handling this traffic no accident of any kind occurred in camp.

For next year I propose a continuance of our present plan of armory instruction, supplemented by some amplification of existing Division schools. During field training we shall devote special attention to musketry, combat firing and the training of the leaders of small groups. I hope to have special combat firing course available at Camp Smith and Pine Camp for this work.

7. Small Arms Practice. The Ordnance Department, in the matter of small arms qualifications, had its greatest season in the history of the New York National Guard. With the rifle, automatic rifle, machine gun, pistol, howitzer, bayonet and saber, it secured 9,275 qualifications as against 7,161 in 1929. These were divided as follows: rifle, 3,492; pistol (dismounted), 3, 214; pistol (mounted), 197; machine gun, 793; automatic rifle, 372; howitzer, 524; bayonet, 549, and saber, 134. This was an increase of nearly 33 per cent, and a very large proportion was in the sharpshooter and expert classes. The regiment leading in all qualifications was the 10th Infantry, with a total of 1,190 (last year's highest was 926, by the 108th Infantry). The 108th Infantry was second this year, with 1,035, and the 107th Infantry third, with 964. All three of these regiments exceeded the previous high record. Infantry Brigade established a high brigade record (which is probably a national one), making 2,013 qualifications in the various small arms in its brigade. All these men have received the decorations won, the majority having been awarded before leaving camp, or at the close of their field training.

The figure of merit prizes in the different brigades this year were keenly contested, and won with very much higher percentages.

In the matter of matches the Guard did much finer work this year than usual. In the Sea Girt Tournament the New York National Guard rifle team of eight won the classic Dryden Trophy for the first time in its thirty years of competition. Several times in previous years New York lost by one point. This year the winning margin was 38 points.

In the matter of individual endeavor at the National matches, New York secured two men in the President's One Hundred for 1930 (Sergeant Harry A. James, 174th Infantry and Private George Sauter, Jr., 107th Infantry). One man made the one hundred grand aggregate for all matches (Corporal William C. Fisher, 107th Infantry). Sergeant Harry A. James, made the National Guard All-Service Team and was high American Legionnaire National Guardsman. At the Sea Girt Rifle Tournament, Corporal James H. Fitzgerald, 107th Infantry, won the Sea Girt breaking all previous records.

The State Matches, held at Camp Smith early in June, were largely attended by both the National Guard, Naval Militia, West Point and a few civilians. High scores were made in all matches, the competitions being close. In the Adjutant-General's Match, a three-man team from any unit, Company L, 107th Infantry, broke the record with a total score of 423 out of a possible 450, the match being fifteen shots at both 600 and 1,000 yards.

Individual Rifle Championship at 200, 600, 900 and 1,200 yards,

The pistol teams had their greatest year. In the National Guard Corps Area Match (ten officers), New York for the third time in succession won the Rhinelander Cup, which brought permanent possession to the State. In doing this, New York has probably set a new record for a ten-man match over the regulation dismounted pistol course: 92 per cent in 1928, 94.24 per cent in 1929 and 93.62 per cent in 1930. Again New York won three places on the all-National Guard Corps Area team in the Luquer Cup Match fired at Fort Hamilton, the other two members being one each from New Jersey and Delaware. They also secured two of the three medals for high individual scores. In the Luquer Match the Regular Army team won with 96.39 per cent, the National Guard team second with 93.87 per cent, and the Officers Reserve team third.

In the Divisional Pistol Team Match (five men, dismounted pistol course), held at Sea Girt in July, the New York National Guard lost to the Regular Army by sixty-seven one-hundredths of one per cent, the average percentage of the former being 95.20 to New York's 94.53. This was probably the largest divisional pistol match ever held in the United States, there being seven teams entered from New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware—1st Division, United States Army; 27th, 28th and 44th Divisions National Guard, and 77th, 78th and 79th Reserve Divisions. The high score prize was won by Captain McCullough of the Regular Army, who beat 1st Lieut. E. N. Carples of the 107th Infantry, New York, by sixteen one-hundredths of one per cent—96.30 per cent to 96.16 per cent.

In the National Pistol Team Match at Camp Perry, the New York National Guard five led all other National Guard teams of the country, coming in seventh place, two points back of the United States Cavalry team—thus winning legs on the Distinguished Pistol Shot badge of the United States Army. The match is a very difficult one on the American Standard target at 50 and 25 yards. The New Yorkers put up their best average this year—242. This team also won the National Gaurd end of the N. R. A. Pistol Team Match.

All of these pistol teams, on account of the match conditions, drew different personnel—the National Guard Corps Area Match had to be all commissioned officers and ten in number. All other teams were five members, the Luquer having to be a mixed Guard personnel; the Divisional Match had to be five officers from Division troops only, while the National Match can be either commissioned or enlisted men from the entire Guard.

The Guard is fully equipped with all ordnance, and according to the reports of Corps Area Ordnance inspectors all arms are being kept in much more serviceable condition—as to repairs and oiling—than in past years.

8. Athletics. Athletic training and competitions are a very important part of the activities of the Guard. We had a very successful competition for the James W. Wadsworth trophy for baseball, conducted during the summer at Camp Smith and open to all organizations of the Guard, which was won by the team of the 212th Artillery of New York City, with the team of the 105th Infantry from Troy and the northeastern part of the State as runners-up. This competition has been won in past years by the 105th Infantry, the 107th Infantry, 27th Division Special Troops (three years), the 108th Infantry and the 174th Infantry. The trophy has therefore visited all parts of the State, and has been in the hands of six different organizations during the eight years that the competition has been operated. Former Senator Wadsworth has taken a great personal interest in the annual disposition of the two trophies which he so generously donated—the first now in the permanent possession of the 27th Division Special Troops—and we owe him a debt of gratitude for that generosity and interest.

Our new quarter-mile cinder track at Camp Smith was used last year for the first time, and meets were held thereon by all troops at that Camp. Prizes were provided from our Athletic Fund for these meets, as they were also whenever desired at other camps. It is expected that the outdoor championship meet of the Military Athletic League will be held next June on the Camp Smith track. Competitions were also held in the swimming pool at Camp Smith. This pool, according to Military Police reports, was used last summer by 22,604 men—an average of about 226 per diem. No deaths from downing occurred, and no serious accidents. The above certainly indicates the advantage of the pool and the use that is made of it, as well as its safe operation. The water was tested for purity frequently during the summer, and in spite of an abnormally dry season no contamination was discovered. By the new system of supply-pipes put in last spring, it is now possibe to ensure fresh water in the pool at all times.

A successful basketball competition was held last winter in New City, our field artillery regiments are organizing a mounted basketball league, and our cavalry and field artillery are prominent in indoor polo. The Military Athletic League continues its excellent work in track athletics. These are all what might be called "Division" activities. In addition, regimental competitions are held in all classes of sports, and throughout the State few companies were not represented by teams of one kind or another.

Our soldier boxing continues to prosper under what I believe to be greatly improved conditions. I completely reorganized the sport about a year ago, and appointed my Adjutant, Lieut. Colonel Joseph A. S. Mundy, to be State Athletic Officer in full charge thereof. Colonel Mundy has handled a difficult situation with marked ability and without fear or favor. He has operated throughout with the one idea of keeping soldier boxing honest, and of being just to all connected therewith. Drastic action has been taken on several occasions and will be taken as needed in the future. Boxing is valuable to us, as it furnishes the financial support for many other activities. We propose to continue it and to conduct it on a clean, honest and just basis. Our relations with the State Boxing Commissioners have been most pleasant and harmonious throughout the year.

9. Inspections. The following report of operations of the Inspector General's Department, New York National Guard for the period November 15, 1929, to November 15, 1930, was made as required by A. R. 20-5:

(a) Armory inspections showed a continued general progress—our organizations being rated as follows: 16 Very Satisfactory, 6 Satisfactory Plus, 11 Satisfactory. Re-enlistments in 1929 number 3,316 (16 per cent of our total strength), a slight decrease from the 1928 figure of 3,448. The number of re-enlistments is in some regiments much higher than the combined figure would indicate—for instance, in the 104th Field Artillery the number of re-enlisted men is over 26 per cent of the total strength of the regiment. Per cent present for inspection, 93 per cent—for the twelve months preceding inspection, 84 per cent.

(b) The system of unannounced inspections of armories as to maintenance instituted in 1929 was continued in the present year, and it is believed that these inspections are of value in keeping armory employees "on their toes."

(c) The system of having a staff officer on duty at Pine Camp, initiated this year, was of great value, and as this officer also made weekly inspections of Fort Ontario I was kept in close contact with the training and other work at these camps.

(d) The accounts of the Post Quartermasters at Fort Ontario, Pine Camp and Camp Smith were inspected at intervals throughout the field training period, and checks made of the presence of men whose names appeared on the payrolls. The accounts of the Post Hospital, Headquarters Mess and Provisional Ordinance Detachment at Camp Smith were audited monthly.

(e) Frequent inspections were made at Fort Ontario, Pine Camp and Camp Smith of the quality of the meat and other rations on components issued to the troops. The food issued was found to be uniformly good.

(f) Over thirty cases of all kinds referred to the Department were investigated and reported.

10. Uniform and Equipment. We now have eight organizations which have adopted and are wearing distinctive dress uniforms—the 71st, 106th, 107th and 165th Infantry, the 106th Field Artillery and 244th Coast Artillery, the 102nd Engineers, and the 102nd Medical Regiment. Six others are considering such a step, and have made progress toward its adoption and financing—namely the 14th and 369th Infantry, the 105th and 258th Field Artillery, and the 212th and 245th Coast Artillery. The 105th Infantry has adopted and secured distinctive mess-jackets for its officers. I favor distinctive uniforms for their effect on morale and esprit de corps, provided proper financial plans are made for obtaining and maintaining them. Many organizations in addition to those listed above have at their own expense obtained tailored olive drab uniforms or have secured the new issue uniforms, which are a great improvement over the old, and all organizations now insist on their officers providing themselves with well cut and well fitting clothes. In the appearance of our officers and men we have made material progress since the days before the World War. As an allied subject I wish to speak of the progress that has been made in the appearance of belts and other equipment, the quality, appearance, training and gaiting of the animals of our mounted troops, and the painting and serviceability of our motors. Organization commanders are alive to the importance of appearances and of "dressing up" their commands, and their efforts are showing good results.

11. Permanent Plant. (a) Armories. The year was an exceptional one in respect to armories. The Adjutant-General has secured for us, as will be shown in his report, the completion and occupation of new armories for Troop "A" of the 121st Cavalry at Utica, and Company "K" of the 10th Infantry at Oneida, and expects early results toward new construction at Newburgh, Kingston, Peekskill and Syracuse. These projects will remedy the worst cases that we have, and we hope for early action in some few other localities. In New York City numerous important alterations and repairs have been made, including the reconditioning of Miller (Aviation) Field; and while construction has not yet been started, progress has been made toward the building of a complete new armory at Jamaica for the 104th Field Artillery, and in Harlem for an administrative building for the 369th Infantry. These last two projects are greatly needed, and we hope for definite action during 1931.

(b) Camp Smith. The Militia Bureau was able to allot us an exceptional amount of funds for construction at Camp Smith, and the following buildings were completed: seventeen new mess halls, a gas chamber, a storehouse for target material, a magazine for high explosives, a latrine on the landscape range, and a forge warehouse. In addition, Federal funds were allowed for a new pistol range and a new 200-yard firing point on the valley range, besides the annual repairs needed for all target ranges. The mess halls are unusual in that they are constructed of concrete blocks and are buildings much more permanent in character than the old wooden buildings which they replaced. As the Federal government allows only $1,800 for mess buildings, about $800 additional was furnished from State funds for each one and a result secured which is well appearing and which will minimize upkeep. In addition to the above the State provided funds for framing all of the officers' tents in camp (a much-needed improvement which has added greatly to the comfort of company officers), for a new fence up the camp hill, for two new roads and the necessary maintenance of existing roads, for grading new drill fields and for the necessary repair and maintenance of buildings and grounds. During the past twelve months a large number of trees have been transferred to the main West Camp street, greatly improving its appearance, and to other sections of the camp, where they would improve appearance and provide shade. The firing point referred to above formed a dam across the Putman brook, thus draining our old lake and forming a new lake north of that firing point. In completion of this project a concrete spillway was built to carry off the overflow, a pipe was laid with its intake some eight feet below water-level to act as a new water supply for the swimming pool, and the old lake-bed was filled in and graded for a new drill field and for the projected combat-firing range. This drainage and fill project was referred to in my last annual report. It is now practically completed, and will be one of the most useful improvements that we have made. A new equitation ring has also been laid out, and will be completed next spring. From the profits of operation of the Post Exchange we also provided improved lighting for that building, remodeled the soda fountain and cafeteria, and installed a complete boxing ring. I know of no camp which provides as complete and attractive a recreation building as does Camp Smith, and, as I shall point out in a succeeding paragraph, the building is now entirely selfsupporting. Post Exchange profits also provided for the construction of a new officers' mess building for the East Camp and for the remodelling of the old mess building to accommodate a women's rest room, an adjutant's office and a storeroom.

For next year our main Federally-constructed projects will be the replacement of our remaining wooden mess buildings with concrete-block construction, a 1000-inch automatic rifle range, the combat range referred to above, and a complete rebuilding of our sewerage plant. The present plant is a patchwork, constructed from time to time as other construction required. It is worn out and inadequate. We are securing plans and specifications from the Department of Public Works for a modern and up-to-date plant to serve the entire camp. The Militia Bureau promises serious consideration of the project. We have also requested the Militia Bureau to consider the advisability of providing concrete floors and tent frames for all tents, to reduce annual maintenance.

From athletic funds we contemplate the construction of two standard handball courts and a volley-ball court placed adjacent to the swimming pool, and centering athletic facilities in this general section of the camp.

We have started this year to reduce the funds requested from the State for Camp Smith construction, and our 1931 requests are 14 per cent less than the amounts allowed us for 1930. I shall endeavor to reduce this amount still further in succeeding years, keeping in mind of course that such a large plant will always require a certain amount for annual maintenance if it is to be maintained as it now is and as I believe the State wishes it to continue. Our State requests for 1931 therefore contain few new projects additional to maintenance and repair: a continuance of present regrading in Putnam Valley and at the camp entrance, a new road to serve all of our ranges and such expenses of the new mess halls as cannot be obtained from the Federal government.

In Camp Smith the State possesses a camp ground which, in appearance and utility is unequalled. This is the opinion of all officers of the United States Army who visit it officially and unofficially.

c. Pine Camp. This camp, used by our cavalry and field artillery, shared materially in the Federal funds allotted to the State. The following projects were completed: runways for aviation field, artillery observation tower, gasoline and oil storehouse, clearing new artillery range, together with large amount of general maintenance work.

In addition, the major portion of a fifty-target rifle and pistol range was constructed, and it is hoped to have it in operation next year. For 1931 we have asked, in addition to necessary maintenance funds, for a new brigade administration and mess building, for clearing additional drill fields and target ranges, for clearing and fencing the water supply, two new horse shelters, an ordnance repair shop, a wagon shed, and a quartermaster utility building. Certain contemplated improvements to the Post Exchange will be paid for out of 1930 operating profits.

d. Fort Ontario. This camp is on a Government reservation, and was maintained in good condition. For 1931 we require only the replacing of one mess building, damaged by high winds, and the enlargement of the present enlisted men's shower and latrine building.

e. Headquarters, New York National Guard. On March 11, 1930, the offices of Headquarters, New York National Guard, were transferred from the Municipal Building, New York City, where they had been located for some eighteen years, to 2 Lafayette street. This move was made to enable the former quarters to be remodeled for the expansion of the municipal finance department, and very satisfactory quarters were obtained, at the expense of the city, in our new location. On December 11th a second move was made to the New York State Building at 80 Center street, New York

City, where we are now permanently located.

12. Administration. A general policy of making all possible activities self-supporting has been followed in recent years, and is showing decided results. National Guard athletics, athletic facilities and the upkeep thereof, are now supported entirely from funds received from boxing. No requests for funds therefor have been made on the State for several years. The running track, officers' swimming pool, and tennis courts at Camp Smith were paid for from athletic funds, as well as the remodelling of the water supply for the large swimming pool. The expense of handball and volleyball courts will be paid from these same funds. Employees to maintain these installations were in 1930 paid from the athletic fund and not from State appropriation.

The Post Exchange at Camp Smith is entirely self-supporting, and in addition earns a considerable amount for "permanent betterments" at that camp, as authorized by the military law. A case in point is the new officers' mess building in the East Camp, already referred to in this report. The Post Exchange has been operated for several years on the plan of advertising for bids on the various activities and assigning the concession to the highest bidder, after various other plans had been tried with comparatively little success. This method is definite, fair, and public, and removes charges of favoritism and mis-management. It has shown increasing success and increasing profit. Every concessionnaire is bonded to prevent loss, and agrees to sell at the lowest price quoted on similar articles elsewhere. The same system was installed at Pine Camp in 1930 and resulted in profits which were four times greater than those secured by private operation in 1929. The maintenance and operation of both the Camp Smith and the Pine Camp recreation buildings have ceased to be expenses against the State in any way except in the case of the possible loss by fire of the entire buildings.

Material progress was made in making the Post Hospital at Camp Smith self-supporting. After consultation with the Militia Bureau, bills for the treatment of patients who suffered injury or illness during field training were submitted to that bureau and promptly paid. Some $1,200 was collected in this way last winter and about $2,000 was charged to the Federal Government for 1930 operation and is now being paid. These funds will pay all operating expenses for the year, except the salaries and subsistence of the permanent staff. The latter amount is about $6,000 per annum, which I hope to make, in future, the only charge against the State for this service, and which I consider a just and in fact moderate expense for the results obtained. The average number of patients admitted to this hospital each summer is about one hundred (exclusive of the dispensary cases), and the number of days' treatment for the season is about six hundred. In 1930 at least three National Guardsmen owe the fact that they are alive today to the existence of this hospital.

At Camp Smith our wood for fuel is cut on the reservation, and the money received from the Federal government therefor pays for next year's cutting and additional clearing. Our ice is also harvested at the camp, and is supplied to the troops in quantities far above the Federal allowance without additional expense to the

I am working at present on the question of making our monthly magazine, "The New York National Guardsman," a success financially as well as in other ways. It has proved its worth in many respects, and has served as a model for similar publications in many other states. It should be possible, with careful business management, to sell advertising space to cover the full cost of production. I hope, within the next twelve months, at least to make definite progress in the desired direction.

Through regular and special inspections I am endeavoring to improve and standardize the administration, property and financial accounts of all of our organizations. A circular on the handling of armory rental funds was issued last year, and a board is now working on a standard method of other financial accounts and returns. In property accounts, with the co-operation of the Adjutant-General and the United States Property and Disbursing officer, satisfactory progress is also being made.

13. Recommendations. I approach this paragraph of my report every year with considerable embarrassment, for the simple reason that there seems to be so little recommendation to make beyond a request for the continuance of present support. The organization of the New York National Guard is standardized, as are also its administration and training. Cases which need attention occur from time to time, but they are routine cases, and require only the application of existing policies. The National Guard receives the most generous and sympathetic support from your Excellency and those associated with you in the State government. The same is true of our relations with the Federal government, the Militia Bureau, the Second Corps Area and the United States Army Inspectors assigned to us. All have given willing attention to our needs and requirements, and all have helped in every way in their The New York National Guard is not perfect, but it is composed of earnest, intelligent officers and men who are constantly striving to improve, and who are getting definite results in that direction. We are fully appreciative of the interest that the State of New York has always shown toward its National Guard, and the assistance wherewith it has manifested that interest. I can ask for or recommend nothing more welcome or more liberal than the continuance of present policies.

WILLIAM N. HASKELL, Major General.

APPENDIX B

Report of the Commanding Officer, New York Naval Militia

1. In accordance with provisions of paragraph 443, Regulations Military Forces of the State of New York, the following report of the affairs of the New York Naval Militia for the calendar year 1930, is submitted.

2. Strength. The strength of the New York Naval Militia Brigade as of December 1, 1930, is 1,977 as compared with 1,884 on December 31, 1929.

- 3. Attendance. The 1930 average attendance at drills was 73.60 per cent as compared with 72 per cent in 1929. The attendance at the Annual Muster and Inspection for this year was 82 per cent in comparison with 77 per cent, obtained in the previous year. Personnel not present in prescribed uniform at 8:30 p. m., time set for muster, were not recorded as present at annual muster. The increase in strength and increase in average attndance at drill during the year, as well as the increased attendance at Annual Muster and Inspection under more strict rules in recording "present," is an indication of the higher class of personnel, and interest in their duties that is now forming the Naval Militia, particularly when it is considered that only 55 men in each fleet division are permitted pay, whereas drill pay for all members of the Marine Corps companies were suspended on September 30, 1930, due to lack of Federal appropriations.
- 4. Governor's Review. The 1st, 2nd and 4th Battalions, 31st, 32nd and 33rd Fleet Divisions, and VN3RD3 and VN4RD3 Squadrons took part in the Governor's Review held at Van Cortlandt Park, June 7, 1930.
- 5. Small Arms Firing. The small arms competition for figure of merit for the year 1930 produced 256 marksmen qualifications, as compared with 141 for the previous year. In addition, the average figure of merit for all the fleet divisions and Marine companies was 60.06 as compared with 44.59 in the year 1929. The number of Naval Militia teams participating in the State Matches at Peekskill during June 1930 was greater than in previous matches. The Brigade Match was won by the Third Battalion with a score of 1,412 and had entries from each command eligible to participate. The Headquarters Match had teams from the 31st and 32nd Fleet Divisions and was won by the 33rd Fleet Division with a score of 329. The 2nd and 3rd Battalions provided teams for the Cruikshank Trophy Match, the McAlpin Trophy Match and the Company Team Match.
- 6. Naval Academy Appointments. Three members of the New York Naval Militia secured appointments to the New York Naval Academy during the year 1930. There were 13 appointments for the whole country secured by the U. S. Naval Reserve out of 25 allowed. A Bill has been under consideration by Congress for the past two years authorizing a lower enlistment age which would permit enrolling men at the age of 17 instead of 18. This may be passed during the next session, and this new legislation will permit a greater number of eligible candidates for Midshipmen appointments.

Standing in

7. General Efficiency of the Brigade. The Annual Merit Ratings by the U. S. Naval Inspection Board of the Naval Reserve of the entire country shows the following for units of the New York Naval Militia:

			Naval Reser
Organization	Commanding officer	Location	This year Last	year
3rd Battalion	Captain W. J. Graham Lt. Cmdr. M. Mackenzie	Rochester Whitestone	1 7	2
2nd Battalion	Captain F. R. Lackey	Brooklyn	8	.8
1st Battalion	Captain T. Nelson	Manhattan	14	16
Standing of the two hi	ghest Naval Militia Divisions i	n the Naval Rese	erve Competition	,
9th Fleet Division	Lt. (jg.) H. T. Haidt	Rochester	$\frac{2}{3}$	21
11th Fleet Division	Lt. Comdr. F. J. Bailey	Dunaio	U	21

8. Information has already been submitted on the unsatisfactory relationship between New York State and the Navy Department growing out of the dual, non-cooperative control of all units of the Naval Militia by that department in Federal status and by the Headquarters of the Naval Militia. It is hoped that some improvement in this relationship may be effected.

Report of the New York Monuments Commission for the Battlefields of Gettysburg, Chattanooga and Antietam

I have the honor to submit the following report, for the year 1930, of the New York Monuments Commission for the Battle-fields of Gettysburg, Chattanooga and Antietam, which is authorized to determine the positions and movements of the New York organizations engaged in battlefields of the Civil War, and to erect, in commemoration of their services, such monuments, markers and tablets as may be required from time to time, pursuant to acts of the Legislature of this State.

The present members of the Commission are: Charles A. Shaw, U. S. V. (veteran of the Civil War), and Major-General Franklin W. Ward, The Adjutant-General. J. W. Lynch, secretary.

The office of the Commission was moved on December 11, 1930, from No. 949 Broadway to the New York State Office Building, No. 80 Center street.

In the end of 1860 and the beginning of 1861 preparations were already in progress for putting Fort Taylor in the island of Key West and Fort Jefferson in Garden Key, one of the Tortugas Islands, in a condition for warding off attacks from the mainland. In that period there was considerable friction between prominent citizens of Key West and the Federal officers in control there.

Key West was known as the key of the Gulf. President Lincoln attributed great importance to it and the Tortugas, some sixty miles to the west, as strategic points. A blockade of the Port of Key West was established in June, 1861. The Department of Key West was constituted on January 11, 1862. Brig. Gen. J. M. Brannan, of the First Artillery, in command at Fort Taylor since January, 1861, was assigned to the command of it. This department comprised Key West, the Tortugas and the mainland on the west coast as far as Apalachicola and Cape Canaveral on the east coast.

The Department of the South was constituted on March 15, 1862. It embraced the States of South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, with the expedition and forces then under Brig. Gen. T. W. Sherman. Maj. Gen. David Hunter was assigned to the Department of the South.

In a report signed by General Hunter, commanding the Department of the South, dated February 24, 1863, the garrison at Key West was given as 900 men and that at the Tortugas as 200. General Hunter said that the forces at Key West should be increased to 1,200, and those at the Tortugas to 1,000. An official return for the month of March, 1863, gives the number of the forces at Key West and the Tortugas, absent and present, as 1,607.

At Key West, in common with Fort Pickens, near Pensacola, the Union flag remained unceasingly afloat during the Civil War.

Seven volunteer regiments or portions of them were in service at Key West and the Tortugas at various times: The Forty-seventh, Fiftieth and One Hundredth Pennsylvania, the Fourth New Hampshire, the Ninetieth, Ninety-first and—three companies for a short time—the Sixth New York, commanded by Colonel William Wilson.

The Ninetieth New York, Colonel Joseph P. Morgan in command, was organized in New York City. It was ordered to Fort Taylor and Fort Jefferson on January 5, 1862; serving first in the Department of Key West. In July, 1862, the Ninetieth formed the garrison at Fort Taylor and Fort Jefferson; four of the companies, under Colonel Louis W. Tinelli, were in the Tortugas. The regiment remained at Key West and the Tortugas until November, 1862. It was relieved by the Forty-seventh Pennsylvania, and joined General T. Seymour's Brigade at Port Royal Island in South Carolina. At that period the Ninetieth had 27 officers and 465 enlisted men. In March, 1863, it returned to Key West, remaining there until May, 1863, when it was called to Louisiana.

The Ninety-first, commanded by Colonel Jacob Van Zandt, was organized in Albany. It was ordered to Key West in January, 1862. It was stationed at Fort Pickens and Pensacola in June, 1862; but two of the companies did not leave Key West until August. In December, 1862, it was called to Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

The Ninetieth and Ninety-first regiments became units of the Nineteenth Corps. They were at Port Hudson during the siege there, May 23 to July 8, 1863. The Ninetieth was also in the Red River Expedition. Both regiments took part in the encounters between General Sheridan and General Early in the Shenandoah Valley in the fall of 1862.

While at Key Kest and the Tortugas their work was confined to garrison duty; but during their stay there a large number of their members suffered severely from disease—yellow fever mostly. The Ninetieth had its ranks depleted by sickness to the number of 105; but only 12 members of the Ninety-first—it was there only for a comparatively short time—died of sickness.

Sergeant Alfred A. Lord, of Binghamton, belonged to the Nine-He, too, suffered while at Key West from yellow fever; but he recovered and was with his regiment in Louisiana and He was captured at Cedar Creek, October 19, 1864. After being held a prisoner for five months he was discharged. He never forgot the trials and troubles of his comrade volunteers who died of the epidemic at Key West.

When the Northern states a good many years ago began to erect monuments to their troops and commanders in several of the battle grounds of the Civil War it often occurred to Sergeant Lord that the 117 men of the Ninetieth and Ninety-first New York regiments who suffered from the epidemic at Key West in 1862 and succumbed to it there were also deserving of a votive stone, just as much as the men who fell in the firing lines anywhere during the disagreement between the sections. No one knew better than he did the agonies of the victims of the epidemic which raged in that island in 1862.

Sergeant Lord was in attendance with his nephew, Assemblyman Bert Lord, of Afton, at the dedication of the New York State monument at Antietam, September, 1920. At that period he wrote a letter to the late Colonel Lewis R. Stegman, then chairman of the New York Monuments Commission, asking his co-operation for erecting a monument at Key West. Colonel Stegman encouraged him in this laudable ambition from the start,—pointing out at the same time that the sum of sacrifice of the Ninetieth Regiment at Key West alone was far in excess of the casualties of numerous New York regiments in all the battles in which they were engaged.

Colonel Stegman died in 1923. Thereafter his successor on the Commission, Charles A. Shaw, U. S. V., exchanged a good many letters on the proposed memorial with Assemblyman Bert Lord, who was acting in the matter, with commendable energy and perseverance, in behalf of his uncle, Sergeant Lord. For a good while, for various reasons, the Key West monumental project went glimmering; but the delay in carrying it to a successful issue was not due to Assemblyman Lord or the New York Monuments Commis-Eventually, Assemblyman Lord, under chapter 520, Laws of 1928, succeeded in securing an appropriation of $12,000 for the erection of a monument, suitably inscribed, in memory of the Civil War veterans from this State who died of yellow fever at Kev West in 1862.

The remains of the 117 men from New York who died at Key West were taken for reinterment to the national cemetery at Fort Barraneas in Florida in 1927; but it was decided that the monument to them should stand on a site at Key West.

Through the Chamber of Commerce, the proposed monument was brought to the attention of the people of Key West. Local co-operation in the work incident to putting the structure in place was cheerfully offered. A choice of three places was suggested as a site for it. Charles A. Shaw, U. S. V., and Edward P. Casey, the architect, went to Key West the second week of February, 1929. A committee was appointed to assist them in their deliberations: William W. Demeritt, chairman, Mayor Leslie A. Curry, Robert B. Austin, then president of the Chamber of Commerce, Karl Thompson and Miss Ileen Williams, secretary, Chamber of Commerce. The site selected and agreed on is at Bayview Park.

The allowance of funds for this project was a source of great gratification to Sergeant Alfred A. Lord. It is to be regretted, however, that he did not live to see the memorial for which he yearned so long. He died a few weeks before the site was selected.

Bids that New York stone contractors had submitted on the request of the New York Monuments Commission for the construction and erection of the monument were considered at a meeting of the Commissioners held on March 6, 1929. The contract for it, at the price of $7,815, was awarded to Charles F. Parsons Company, New York City. It was erected in July, 1929. A description of the monument was included in the report of the Commission for the year 1929.

DEDICATION

Under chapter 85 of the Laws of 1930, $4,000 was appropriated for the dedication of the monument. It was conducted on Armistice Day, November 11, 1930; and in point of impressive ceremony and the concourse present—estimated at 5,000—it could well be compared to similar functions in years gone by on some of the most important of the Civil War battle grounds. The programme for the observance of the anniversary day was contrived, with exemplary courtesy and forethought, to provide ample participation at the unveiling ceremonies. Incidentally, the New York delegation took part in the general celebration and on their way to the stand were with the Legionnaires of the city.

Key West was in gala attire. The streets were aflutter with flags and bunting; "Old Glory" waved to the breezes from every flagstaff in the city. Guns at the army barracks fired a salute at noon. Music was furnished by the local Legion drum and bugle corps and the drum corps of the Knights of the Golden Eagle.

The exercises for the dual event reflected great credit on those who had made preparations for them. There were committees for welcoming the New York visitors and for assisting them at the unveiling. The dedication stand was draped in national colors and beside the memorial shaft were displayed the folds of an immense United States flag. The welcome accorded the Empire State delegation that day and the hearty co-operation extended them in having the monument dedicated becomingly furnished evidence anew that at Key West, as elsewhere, "The hands that once were engaged in strife now clasp a brother's hand." An editorial in the Florida Keys Sun voiced the prevailing sentiment on that occasion:

"Let there be no tinge of discord over this accession to the city's markers of national events. Even let it be deemed appropriate to place a wreath upon the Union monument every Southland Decoration Day. Let garlands of Key West roses grace the shaft each year recurrent on the North's Memorial Day; and on every Armistice Day as well."

Prayer was offered at the stand by Chaplain W. J. Schoeneck of the Arthur Sawyer Post American Legion. One verse of "America" was then sung by Ralph J. Griswold, of Binghamton, and a quartette from the Key West high school. The Mayor of Key West, Leslie A. Curry, welcomed the New York delegates in a brief talk, and introduced Commissioner Charles A. Shaw, U. S. V., to the audience. The exercises were directed by Commissioner Shaw. Each of the New York delegates was introduced by Senator Bert Lord. Commissioner Shaw presented the memorial to the city of Key West, and it was received by Mayor Curry in behalf of the city.

The speakers for the occasion were Commissioner Shaw and Senator William T. Byrne, of Albany.

Commissioner Shaw, who is in his ninety-first year, spoke in clear and audible tones. He thanked the people of Key West for their kindness and their co-operation in having the monument erected as well as for the worthy preparations they had caused to be made for its dedication. He felt especially grateful to Miss Ileen Williams, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and to Mr. William W. Demeritt. He made allusion to the havoc wrought by epidemics of yellow fever in Key West before and after 1862, and the large number of soldiers—117 of them from the State of New York—who died of it there that year. He eulogized the late Sergeant Alfred A. Lord for his devotion to his comrade volunteers in Key West and the steadfastness that characterized his efforts to have a monument erected to their memory.

Senator William T. Byrne spoke with ardor and eloquence, as is his wont. He took a comprehensive view of his subject. The observance of Armistice Day carried his memory as far back as revolutionary days as well as the conflicts of 1812 and 1845, and reminded him of the strife between the states, the war with Spain and the World war. The mission of the New York party at Key West that day was, he said, in a sense, a declaration of peace; and besides it was the outcome of long years of determination that the memory of the men who died there of an epidemic of yellow fever should some day be honored with an enduring shaft. This shaft shows also that the Empire State is maintaining its lead in memorializing the services and sacrifices of its troops and commanders.

"Today we pay them loving tribute; today we render them the homage that will always be theirs; today we enshrine anew their memories in our hearts, and enter their names on the scrolls of the nation's memorial dead."

APPENDIX D

Changes in Organization and Personnel, Field Training Dates, Service School Graduates, Small Arms Matches, Awards or Decorations, Strength Tables

The following changes in organization occurred during the year:

- 1. By General Orders No. 29, dated December 20, 1929, effective January 1, 1930:
- a. Medical Department Detachment, 101st Cavalry, Brooklyn, N. Y., converted to Medical Department Detachment (less one Squadron Detachment).
- b. A Squadron Medical Department Detachment organized at 1339 Madison Avenue, New York City, and designated Medical Department Detachment, 3rd Squadron, 101st Cavalry, N. Y. N. G.
 - 2. By General Orders No. 2, January 28, 1930:

The station of the Headquarters Detachment, 27th Division was changed from 1322 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. to 1339 Madison Avenue, New York, N. Y., effective February 1, 1930.

3. By General Orders No. 5, March 6, 1930:

The 106th Field Artillery (1555-mm Howitzer) was assigned to 52nd Field Artillery Brigade, 27th Division, effective as of November 20, 1929.

4. By General Orders No. 10, May 17, 1930:
