Genl. After seeing your I wrote Wilson, that as soon as a vacancy occurred in his company, you could procure his appointment.

At the same time I wrote him that you made the remark that you supposed he would prefer not to leave his present company, and suggested that possibly you might be able to keep him in some other regiment.

I asked him to write me in relation to that matter.

I told him I said nothing to you about getting him a position any where else. and did not know that it could be ~~him~~.

I enclose his letter in reply. If there is any chance to give him a certain position now - it will be better for him than to await contingencies.

Yours truly
Wm Parker
