THE NEW YORK HERALD.

WHOLE NO. 10,456.

and his son badly wounded

Details of the Assassination.

magnified until we had nearly every member of he Cabinet killed. Some time elapsed before authentic data could be ascertained in regard to the

The President and Mrs. Lincoln were at Ford's

Theatre, listening to the performance of the American Cousin, occupying a box in the second tier.

At the close of the third act a person entered the box occupied by the President and shot Mr. Lin-

The assassin then jumped from the box upon the

a dagger in his hand, flourishing it in a tragical nanner, shouting the same words repeated by the ntrance to the stage, but in his passage dropped is pistol and his hat.

Mr. Lincoln fell forward in his seat and Mrs.

The moment the astonished audience could realize what had happened the President was taken and carried to Mr. Peterson's house in Tenth street, posite to the theatre. Medical aid was immed ely sent for, and the wound was at first suppose to be fatal, and it was announced that he could not ve; but at half-past twelve he is still alive, though

As the assassin ran across the stage Colonel J. B. tewart, of this city, who was occupying one of the ront seats in the orchestra, on the same side of the ise as the box occupied by Mr. Lincoln, sprang to the stage and followed him; but he was obstruct ed in his passage across the stage by the fright of ne actors, and reached the back door about three onds after the assassin had passed out. Colone ewart got to the street just in time to see him

The operation shows that the whole thing was a ol was a man about thirty years of age, about five ntly bushy, with a large moustache. Laura Keene nd the leader of the orchestra recognized him as

. Wilkes Booth the actor, and a rabid secessionist

Whoever he was, it is plainly evident that he thor oaches and modes of escape to the stage. A perossibly made his escape so well and quickly.

The alarm was sounded in every quarter. Mr.

tanton was notified and immediately left his

All the other members of the cabinet escaped at-

Cavalrymen were sent out in all directions, and

About half-past ten o'clock this evening a tall, well-dressed man made his appearance at Secretary eward's residence, and applied for admission. He ras refused admission by the servant, when the leliver it in person. He was still refused, excep pon the written order of the physician. This he tended to show, and pushed by the servant and shed up stairs to Mr. Seward's room. He was et at the door by Mr. Fred Seward, who notif him that he was master of the house, and would take charge of the medicine. After a few word and passed between them he dodged by Fred Sew ard and rushed to the Secretary's bed and struck him in the neck with a dagger, and also in the Major Wm. H. Seward, Jr., paymaster, pas n

the room and rushed to the defence of his tacher

The desperado managed to escape from the horse and sung out the motto of the State of Vir-

Surgeon General Barnes was immediately sent for, and he examined Mr. Seward and pronounced him safe. His wounds were not fatal. The jugu lar vein was not cut, nor the wound in the breast deep enough to be fatal.

The streets in the vicinity of Ford's Theatre are densely crowded by an anxious and excited crowd.

A guard has been placed across Tenth street and F ular friends of the President are allowed to pass.

The popular heart is deeply stirred, and the leepest indignation against leading rebels is freely

The scene at the house where the President lies in extremis is very effecting. Even Secretary Stanton is effected to tears. When the news spread through the the city that the President had bee shot, the people, with pale faces and compressed lips, crowded every place where there was the lightest chance of obtaining information in regard

After the President was shot, Lieutenant Rathourn caught the assassin by the arm, who immediately struck him with a knife, and jumped from the box, as before stated.

The popular affection for Mr. Lincoln has be-bring eternal infamy, not only upon its authors

Vice President Johnson arrived at the White

Iouse, where the President lies, about one o'clock,

The President's family are in attendance upo

As soon as intelligence could be got to the War

orps were put in requisition to endeavor to pre

Popular report points to a somewhat celebrated urther evidence of his guilt is obtained. It is umored that the person alluded to is in custody.

The latest advices from Secretary Seward revea nore desperate work there than at first supposed.

great loss of blood he has sustained, his recovery is

It was Clarence A. Seward, instead of Wm. H.

Seward, Jr., who was wounded. Fred. Seward was also badly cut, as were also three nurses, who were in attendance upon the Secretary, showing that a desperate struggle took place there. The wounds

The President is perfectly senseless, and there is not the slightest hope of his surviving. Physicians believe he will die before morning. All of his Cab-

ONE O'CLOCK A. M.

of the whole party were dressed.

Seward's wounds are not in themselves fatal; but,

ctor of known secession proclivities as the assas

Department, the electric telegraph and the Signa vent the escape of the assassins, and all the troop and will remain with him to the last.

round Washington are under arms.

out upon the hellish cause which they desire hown by this diabolical assassination, which will

WASHINGTON, April 15-1 A. M.

Sinia, "Sic Semper Tyrannis," and rode off.

rilled instantly, but it was found af

the wound was not mortal.

not fatally.

perado stated that he had a prescription from ispatches were sent to all the fortifications and it understood the theatre and all the ap ncerted plan. The person who fired the pis-nine, spare built, fair skin, dark hair, appar-

unt his horse and ride away.

ead and came out above the temple.

Washington, April 14, 1865.

NEW YORK, SATURDAY, APRIL 15, 1865.

PRICE FOUR CENTS.

ASSASSINATION

PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

The President Shot at the Theatre Last Evening.

SECRETARY SEWARD

DAGGERED IN HIS BED

BUT

MORTALLY WOUNDED.

Clarence and Frederick Seward Badly Hurt.

ESCAPE OF THE ASSASSINS.

Intense Excitement in Washington.

Scene at the Deathbed of Mr. Lincoln.

J. Wilkes Booth, the Actor, the Alleged Assassin of the President. ac, de, de

THE OFFICIAL DESPATCH.

Major General Dix. New York:-

This evening at about 9:30 P. M., at Ford's Thes tre, the President, while sitting in his private box with Mrs. Lincoln, Mrs. Harris and Major Rathburn, was shot by an assassin, who suddenly antered the box and approached behind the President. The assassin then leaped upon the stage, brandishing a large dagger or knife, and made his escan

The pistol ball entered the back of the President's head and penetrated nealy through the head. The wound is mortal.

The President has been insensible every since it was inflicted, and is now dying.

About the same hour an assassin, whether the same or not, entered Mr. Seward's apartments, and under pretense of having a prescription was shown to the Secretary's sick chamber. The assassin in mediately rushed to the bed and inflicted two o three stabs on the throat and two on the face.

It is hoped the wounds may not be mortal. My apprehension is that they will prove fatal.

The nurse alarmed Mr. Frederick Seward, who was in an adjoining room, and he hastened to the door of his father's room, when he met the assassin who inflicted upon him one or more dangerou wounds. The recovery of Frederick Seward is doubtful.

It is not probable that the President will live

General Grant and wife were advertised to be at the theatre this evening, but he started to Burlington at six o'clock this evening. At a Cabinet meeting, at which General Grant was present, the subject of the state of the country and the prospect of a speedy peace was discussed The President was very cheerful and hopeful, and spoke very kindly of General Lee and others of the confederacy, and of the establishment of govern-All the members of the Cabinet except Mr. Sew ard are now in attendance upon the President.

I have seen Mr. Seward, but he and Frederic were both unconscious.

EDWIN M. STANTON. Secretary of War.

THE HERALD DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, April 14, 1865. ation has been inaugurated in Washing ton. The bowie knife and pistol have been applie to President Lincoln and Secretary Seward. The former was shot in the throat, while at Ford's Theatre to-night. Mr. Seward was badly cut about the throat, while in bed at his residence.

SECOND DISPATCH.

An attempt was made about ten o'clock this even-ing to assassinate the President and Secretary Seward. The President was shot at Ford's Theatre

eny other gentlemen are also at the house await. og the termination

The scene at the President's bedside is described by one who witnessed it as most affecting. It was surrounded by his Cabinet ministers, all of whom were bathed in tears, not even excepting Mr. Stan-Washington was thrown into an intense excitement Barnes, that the President could not live until ent that the President and Secre morning, exclaimed, "Oh, no, General; no-no; ary Seward had been assassinated and were dead. and with an impulse natural as it was unaffected, The wildest excitement prevailed in all parts of immediately sad down on a chair near his bedside and wept like a child. the city. Men, women and children, old and young, rushed to and fro, and the rumors were

Senator Sumner was seated on the right of the President's couch, near the head, holding the right hand of the President in his own. He was sobbing like a woman, with his head bowed down almost on the pillow of the bed on which the President was

Two o'CLOCK A. M. The President is still alive, but there is no improvement in his condition.

THE PRESS DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, April 15-12:30 A. M. The President was shot in a theatre to-night, and s perhaps mortally wounded.

Washington, April 15-1 A. M. The President is not expected to live through the Secretary Seward was also assassinated. No an Additional Details of the Assassin-

Washington, April 15-1:30 A. M. President Lincoln and wife, with other friends this evening visited Ford's theatre, for the purose of witnessing the performance of the Ameri can Cousin.

Grant would also be present; but that gentleman took the late train of cars for New Jersey.

The theatre was densely crowded, and all seeme elighted with the scone before them. During the third act, and while there was a temporary paus pistol was heard, which merely attracted attention out suggested nothing serious, until a man rush to the front of the President's box, waving a long lagger in his right hand, and exclaiming "Sic Sem per Tyrannis!" and immediately leaped from the ox, which was in the second tier, to the stage beneath, and ran across to the opposite side, making his escape, amid the bewilderment of the audience from the rear of the theatre, and, mounting horse, fled.

The screams of Mrs. Lincoln first disclosed the fact to the audience that the President had been shot, when all present rose to their feet, rushing owards the stage, many exclaiming "Hang him

The excitement was of the wildest possible de cription, and of course there was an abrupt termnation of the theatrical performance. There was a rush towards the President's box ir." "Has any one stimulants?" On a hasty examination it was found that th esident had been shot through the head, abov he back of the temporal bone, and that some to you comoved to a private Louise opposed to theatre, and the Surgeon General of the Army

ent for to attend to his condition On an examination of the private box blood wa chair on which the President had been sitting, als on the partition and on the floor. A common sin-It was supposed at first that Mr. Seward was A military guard was placed in front of the private residence to which the President had been and deeply anxious to learn the condition of the nd was badly cut in the side with the assassin, but esident. It had been previously announced that ne wound was mortal, but all hoped otherwise The shock to the community was terrible.

house, and was prepared for escape by having a horse at the door. He immediately mounted his At midnight the Cabinet, with Messrs. Sumner olfax and Farnsworth, Judge Curtis, Governo Oglesby, General Meigs, Colonel Hay, and a few ersonal friends, with Surgeon General Barnes and is immediate assistants, were around his bedside The President was in a state of syncope, totally ensible, and breathing slowly. The blood oozed om the wound in the back of his head.

The surgeons exhausted every possible effort of

The parting of his family with the dying Presient is too sad for description.

he theatre until fifteen minutes after eight o'clock Speaker Colfax was at the White House at the time and the President stated to him that he was going. Mrs. Lincoln had not been well, but because the papers had announced that General Grant and they were to be present, and, as General Grant had gone North he did not wish the audience to be disanpointed.

Mr. Colfax to go with him, but that gentleman had made other engagement, and, with Mr. Ashman, of

When the excitement at the theatre was at its dest neight reports were circulated that Secre-On reaching this gentleman's residence a crow and a military guard were found at the door, and on entering it was ascertained that the reports were based on truth.

Everybody there was so excited that scarcely an teligible word could be gathered. But the facts are substantially as follows:-

About ten o'clock a man rang the bell, and the all having been answered by a colored servant, he said he had come from Dr. Verdi, Secretary Sew ard's family physician, with a prescription, at the same time holding in his hand a small piece of paper folded, and saying, in answer to a refusal, tha he must see the Secretary, as he was entrusted with particular directions concerning the medicine.

He still insisted or going up, although repeatedly The man pushed the servant aside, and walked hastily towards the Secretary's room, and was then ed to see the Secretary, making the same repre sentation which he did to the servant. What further passed in the way of colloquy is no known; but the man struck him on the head with a billy, severely injuring the skull and felling him

The assassin then rushed into the chamber and attacked Major Seward, Paymaster United State Army, and Mr. Hansell, a messenger of the State Department, and two male nurses, disabling them

He then rushed upon the Secretary, who was lying in bed in the same room, and inflicted three stabs in the neck, but severing, it is thought and hoped, no arteries, though he bled profusely. The assassin then rushed down stairs, mounted his horse at the door, and rode off before an alarm could be sounded, and in the same manner as the assassin of the President. It is believed that the injuries of the Secretary are not fatal, nor those of either of the others, al except Secretary Seward, are with him though both the Secretary and the Assistant Secre tary are very seriously injured.

Secretaries Stanton and Wells, and other promi ent officers of the Government, called at Secretary Seward's to inquire into his condition, and ther heard of the assassination of the President.

They then proceeded to the house where he was An immense crowd was gathered in front of the President's house, and a strong guard was also stationed there. Many persons evidently supposing he would be brought to his home.

The entire city to-night presents a scene of wild excitement, accompanied by violent expression of

The military authorities have dispatched moun ed patrols in every direction in order, if possible o arrest the assassins. The whole metropolita police are likewise vigilant for the same purpose. The attacks, both at the theatre and at Secreta Seward's house took place at about the same hou -ten o'clock-thus showing a preconcerted plan t ssassinate those gentlemen. the guilt of the party who attacked the Presider are in possession of the police.

Vice President Johnson is in the city, and his neadquarters are gurded by troops.

EXTRA 8:10 A. M.

New York, Saturday, April 15, 1865.

DEATH

THE PRESIDENT.

Further Details of the Great Crime.

Additional Despatches from the Secretary of War.

What is Known of the Assas sins.

THE OFFICIAL DESPATCHES.

Major General Dix, New York:—

The President continues insensible and sinking Secretary Seward remains without change; Fred ick Seward's skull is fractured in two places, be des a severe gut upon the head. The attendant

It is now ascertained with reasonable certainty that two assassins were engaged in the horrible crime. Wilkes Booth being the one that shot th President, and the other an accomplice, whose nan s not known, but whose description is so clear tha

It appears from papers found in Booth's trunk that the murder was planned before the 4th of March, but fell through then, because the accom-

Booth and his accomplice were at the livery stabi at 6 o'clock last evening, and left here with their horses at 10 o'clock, or shortly before that hour, It would appear that they had, for several days eason it was not carried into effect untill las

One of the assassins has evidently made his wa to Baltimore; the other has not yet been traced. EDWIN M. STANTON,

THE PRESIDENT DEAD.

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, April 15—7:30 A. M. Major General Dix, New York:—

Abraham Lincoln died this morning at twenty wo minutes past 7 o'clock.

Secretary of War

EDWIN M. STANTON.

IMPORTANT FROM SOUTH AMERICA. Surrender of Montevideo to Gen.

Flores-Brazil in Possession of the City, &c. The Brazilian mail arrived at Lisbon April 2 ringing the following advices:-Montevideo has surrendered to General Flores. The Brazilians now (March 11) occupy the city. RIO JANEIRO, March 11, 1865.

Exchange 25% a 2614.

Coffee—Sales of good first at 65.66. Shipment

00,000 bags. Stock, 100,000 bags. Freight, 50.62½ Ванта, March 11, 1865. Exchange 26%. Cotton nominal. PERNAMBUOO, March 11, 1865. Exchange 261/2 a 27.

News from San Francisco.

San Francisco, April 12, 1865. The exports of treasure for the quarter just end d show a falling off of about six and a half millio as compared with the same period last year.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14, 1865. The Pacific mail steamship Sacramento sailed to lay, with a large number of passengers for Nev York, and $1,153,000 in treasure, of which nearly $700,000 go to New York.

The steamship Moses Taylor sailed for San Juan del Sur, with numerous passengers. raders pursue a continuous policy. Prices of Eastern goods are slowly falling.

Sailed, ship Flying Eagle, for Boston

New Orleans Markets. NEW ORLEANS, April 8, VIA CAIRO, April 14, 1866.

The New Orieans markets are at a stand still Low middling cotton is quoted at 42c per pound, and good superfine flour at $9 per barrel.

THE REBELS.

JEFF. DAVIS AT DANVILLE.

His Latest Appeal to his Deluded Followers.

He Thinks the Fall of Richmond a Blessing in Disguise, as it Leaves the Rebel Armies Free to Move From Point to Point.

He Vainly Promises to Hold Virginia at All Hazards.

Lee and His Army Supposed to be Safe.

Breckinridge and the Rest of Davis' Cabinet Reach Danville Safely.

The Organ of Gov. Vance, of North Carolina, Advises the Submission of the Rebels to President Lincoln's Terms,

Jeff. Davis' Last Proclamation. RGINIA TO BE HELD BY THE REBELS AT AL HAZARDS. Jeff. Davis' Last Proclamation.

IRGINIA TO BE HELD BY THE REBELS AT ALL

HAZARDS. DANVILLE, Va., April 5, 1865. The General-in-Chief found it necessary to make ch movements of his troops as to uncover th ecupation of our capital by the enemy. It is on energies to falter and our efforts to become elaxed under adverses, however calamitous the ay be. For many months the largest and fin my of the confederacy, under command of a lead whose presence inspires equal confidence in th by the necessity of keeping constant watch over th proaches to the capital, and has thus been force nterprise. It is for us, my countrymen, to sho y our bearing under reverses how wretched ha en the self deception of those who have believe s less able to endure misfortune with fortitud ruggle. Relieved from the necessity of guardin com point to point to strike the enemy in detail far com his base. Let us but will it and we are free. Animated by that confidence in spirit and forth ide which never yet failed me, I announce to you sllow countrymen, that it is my purpose to main ain your cause with my whole heart and soul; tha ree.

Let us, then, not despond, my countrymen; bu elying on God, meet the foe with fresh defiance and with unconquered and unconquerable hearts.

JEFFERSON DAVIS.

The Evacuation of the Rebel Capital THE FIRST REBEL ACCOUNT OF HOW THE CUTY WAS

[From the Danville (Va.) Register, April 6.] Persons who left the capital Sunday night a Monday morning represent that the scene which followed the evacuation of the city by our troops beggars description. To preserve orer and protect the property of the citizens who unavoidably remained there, as far as could be done, the Nine teenth Virginia militia, under Colonel Evans, was placed on police duty in the city to await the coming of the enemy; but accounts state that they falled to render any aid or protection to the people whatever. On Sunday night a mob of the lower classes of the city, composed, it is said, mostly of the for eign element, visited a number of the largest store-houses of the city and robbed them of their contents. It is affirmed that Main street was pllaged, and then burned, and that some of the milling establishments were also committed to the flames. We have no doubt that a considerable portion of the brave city has been laid in sakes and a number of its people insulted, outraged, robbed and massacred. How painful the thought that the place should be given over to rapine and plunder, even before the public enemy entered its limits. But the fact only proves that the people of Richmond have had secret enemies in their own midst, scarcely less savage and even more treacherous and vindicative than the open foe.

We are told that the people banded together during the violent proceedings of the mob and resisted them with force, a street fight ensuing, in which several persons were killed.

No intelligence has reached us of the enemy's troops occupying the city. The last trains on the Danville raliroad which came out of the place left Monday morning and passengers upon them had heard nothing from the enemy. The greater portion of Grant's army was transferred to to the south side of James river some days ago, only the command of General Ord, which is composed mostly, finot entirely, of negro troops, being left on the north side. This command will not be so hard, and cruel and inhuman as that which has fallen upon the heads of ur fellow townsmen in other captured cities.

The newspapers onday morning represent that the scene which llowed the evacuation of the city by our troops the heads of ur fellow townsmen in other captured cities.

The newspapers of Richmond, we suppose, will fall into the hands of the enemy. The execution of the city was so sudden and unexpected—scarcely anyone being prepared for it—that no time was left for the removal of so cumberous an establishment as a city newspaper office. In a few days we may expect to hear that the Enquirer or the Whig or the Examiner is issued as a Yankee paper.

All the rolling stock on the Richmond and Danville Railroad in running order was saved on the retreat from Richmond. A few old cars, not in a movable condition, were left at Manchester. No train was captured by the enemy near the Junction as was at one time reported, and, indeed, we do not believe that any body of Yankees had struck the road at any point up to yesterday evening.

The Secretary of War, the Quartermaster General, Commissary General and a number of sther of ficers of and government, left Richmond on horse back and will probably arrive at this place to-morrow.

ow. Should General Lee establish his lines east of the

Lee's Army Supposed to be in a Sale

Position.
[From the Raleigh Confederate, April 7.]

Rebel Particulars of the Battle of Petersburg.

[From the Raleigh Confederate, April 7.]

An officer who left Richmond on nine o'clock can Monday morning last informs us that at the time at left the city was in flames from Cary to Canal streets. The Shockoe warehouse and other entracts of supplies were hurning. The helders had

The Organ of Cov. Vance, of North Carolina, Advising Ceneral Lee & Submit to Mr. Lincoln's Terms.

[From the Raleigh Confederate, April 7.]

High Prices in an Overstockee

Market. [From the Raleigh Confederate, April 7.] Our market, on the arrival of the Welden traisen yesterday, because overstocked with shad; the ent off slowly at $50 per pair.

Exchange of Rebel General Vanes.

[From the Ashville (N. C.) News. The exchange of prisoners seems to go steen. We have seen a large number of our min boys, who have reached home after a prod imprisonment. Among others we were grap meet Brigadier General B. B. Vance, who reached the state of o meet Brigadier General R. B. vance, who rescous ome some days since. He looks rather worsted by is long confinement, but as is usual with him, i all of life, cheerful and buoyant. The General a great favorite of the people of this section, are verybody was glad to see him.

City Intelligence.

City Intelligence.

EASTER SUNDAY AT ST. ANN'S CHURCH.—The winders of sacred music, made truly effective by as well trained choir, have an opportunity of industring their taste by repairing to St. Ann's Church concert beginning at eight. Three of the pieces are from Gordigiani, three from Rossini and one are from each of the composers, Verdi, Donizetti, Vertimst, Dachauer and Gound.—We need only mention the names of Signor Remi and Messrs. Schumiz Schubert and Dachauer to insure confidence in tag vocal results. The ladies are quite distinguishest for soprano and contralto execution, and ne extension will be spared to make the musical feast work at the Church.—An advertisment among our re-crest to residents on Murray Hill.

CROTON AQUEDUCT CONTRACTS.—The following ontracts have been issued by the department of the property of th

MISS EMMA HARDINGE delivers her able le n "Politics in the Pulpit" this evening at Dod-orth Hall. To test the lady's ability, any quee ons the audience desire to ask will be answered. Man Drowned. On the morning of the 18th to A