

APPENDIX C

DECORATIONS

MEDAL OF HONOR

*WILLIAM BRADFORD TURNER, First Lieutenant, 105th Infantry. For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action with the enemy near Ronssoy, France, September 27, 1918. He led a small group of men to the attack, under terrific artillery and machine-gun fire, after they had become separated from the rest of the company in the darkness. Single-handed he rushed an enemy machine gun which had suddenly opened fire on his group and killed the crew with his pistol. He then pressed forward to another machine-gun post twenty-five yards away and had killed one gunner himself by the time the remainder of his detachment arrived and put the gun out of action. With the utmost bravery he continued to lead his men over three lines of hostile trenches, cleaning up each one as they advanced, regardless of the fact that he had been wounded three times, and killed several of the enemy in hand-to-hand encounters. After his pistol ammunition was exhausted, this gallant officer seized the rifle of a dead soldier, bayoneted several members of a machine-gun crew, and shot the other. Upon reaching the fourth line trench, which was his objective, Lieutenant Turner captured it with the nine men remaining in his group and resisted a hostile counter-attack until he was finally surrounded and killed. Emergency address: Charles P. Turner, brother, 92 4th Street, Garden City, Long Island, N. Y.

ALAN LOUIS EGGERS, Sergeant, Machine Gun Company, 107th Infantry. For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action with the enemy near Le Catelet, France, September 29, 1918. Becoming separated from their platoon by a smoke barrage, Sergeant Eggers, Sergeant John C. Latham and Corporal Thomas E. O'Shea took cover in a shell hole well within the enemy's lines. Upon hearing a call for help from an American tank, which had become disabled thirty yards from them, the three soldiers left their shelter and started toward the tank, under heavy fire from German machine guns and trench mortars. In crossing the fire-swept area Corporal O'Shea was mortally wounded, but his companions, undeterred, proceeded to the tank, rescued a wounded officer, and assisted two wounded soldiers to cover in a sap of a near-by trench. Sergeant Eggers and Sergeant Latham then returned to the tank in the face of the violent fire, dismounted a Hotchkiss gun, and took it back to where the wounded men were, keeping off the enemy all day by effective use of the gun, and later bringing it, with the wounded men, back to our lines under cover of darkness. Residence at enlistment: 152 Summit Avenue, Summit, N. J.

JOHN CRIDLAND LATHAM, Sergeant, Machine Gun Company, 107th Infantry. For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action with the enemy near Le Catelet, France, September 29, 1918. Becoming separated from their platoon by a smoke barrage, Sergeant Latham, Sergeant Alan L. Eggers and Corporal Thomas E. O'Shea took cover in a shell hole well within the enemy's lines. Upon hearing a call for help from an American tank, which had become disabled thirty yards from them, the three soldiers left their shelter and started toward the tank under heavy fire from German machine guns and trench mortars. In crossing the fire-swept area Corporal O'Shea was mortally wounded, but his companions, undeterred, proceeded to the tank, rescued a wounded officer, and assisted two wounded soldiers to cover in the sap of a near-by trench. Sergeant Latham and Sergeant Eggers then returned to the tank in the face of the violent fire, dismounted a Hotchkiss gun and took it back to where the wounded men were, keeping off the enemy all day by effective use of the gun, and later bringing it, with the wounded men, back to our lines under cover of darkness. Residence at enlistment: 171 Montross Avenue, Rutherford, N. J.

REIDAR WAALER, Sergeant, Company A, 105th Machine Gun Battalion. For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action with the enemy near Ronssoy, France, September 27, 1918. In the face of heavy artillery and machine-gun fire, he crawled forward in a burning British tank, in which some of the crew were imprisoned and succeeded in rescuing two men. Although the tank was then burning fiercely and contained ammunition which was likely to explode at any time, this soldier immediately returned to the tank, and entering it, made a search for the other occupants, remaining until he satisfied himself that there were no more living men in the tank. Residence at enlistment: 104 West 96th Street, New York, N. Y.

*THOMAS E. O'SHEA, Corporal, Machine Gun Company, 107th Infantry. For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action with the enemy near Le Catelet, France, September 29, 1918. Becoming separated from their platoon by a smoke barrage, Corporal O'Shea with two other soldiers took cover in a shell hole well within the enemy's lines. Upon hearing a call for help from an American tank, which had become disabled thirty yards from them, the three soldiers left their shelter and started toward the tank under heavy fire from German machine guns and trench mortars. In crossing the fire-swept area Corporal O'Shea was mortally wounded and died of wounds shortly afterwards. Emergency address: Mr. Thomas E. O'Shea, father, 90 West Street, New York, N. Y. Residence at enlistment: 587 Springfield Avenue, Summit, N. J.

FRANK GAFFNEY, private, first class, Company G, 108th Infantry. For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action with the enemy near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. Private Gaffney, an automatic rifleman, pushing forward alone with his gun, after all the other members of his squad had been killed, discovered several Germans placing a heavy machine gun in position. He killed the crew, captured the gun, bombed several dugouts, and, after killing four more of the enemy with his pistol, held the position until reinforcement came up, when eighty prisoners were captured. Residence at enlistment: 831 Pierce Avenue, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL

JOHN F. O'RYAN, Major General, United States Army. For exceptionally meritorious and distinguished services. As Commander of the 27th Division in its successful operations with the British in France in the autumn of 1918, he displayed qualities of skill and aggressiveness which mark him as a leader of ability. Address: Forest Avenue, Rye, N. Y. Residence at appointment: Forest Avenue, Rye, N. Y.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS

J. LESLIE KINCAID, Lieutenant Colonel, Division Judge Advocate. (Citation not available.)

PAUL DALY, Major, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Soissons, France, July 19-22, 1918. Although wounded he took command of the 1st Battalion of his regiment after the previous Battalion Commanders had been wounded, displaying the highest courage in advancing and holding the objective of his battalion. Three days later he was again wounded, but remained with his command until he was ordered to the rear by his Regimental Commander. Residence at appointment: 20 Nassau Street, New York, N. Y.

HENRY ADSIT, Captain, Machine Gun Company, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Le Catelet, France, September 29, 1918. While leading a platoon of heavy machine guns through a smoke screen and under terrific fire, he suddenly became pocketed in the midst of enemy machine-gun strongholds. He personally went forward and, with the aid of bombs and the effective use of his pistol, made possible the holding of the position until a defense was organized. Residence at appointment: 157 Park Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

WALTER GRESHAM ANDREWS, Captain, Machine Gun Company, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Vendhuile, France, September 29-30, 1918. Although severely wounded in the arm on the morning of September 29th, Captain Andrews gallantly led his company throughout the attack on the Hindenburg Line. After the advance he made a personal reconnaissance under heavy shell and machine-gun fire and organized a section of a trench within twenty yards of the enemy line. This position was held against enemy grenade and machine-gun fire until his company was relieved on the afternoon of September 30th. Residence at appointment: Buffalo, N. Y.

RUTHERFORD IRELAND, Captain, 106th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near St. Souplet, France, October 18, 1918. He continued to lead his battalion in attack, although suffering great pain from a wound caused by shell fire. After being ordered to the dressing station, he had his wound dressed without waiting to have the shrapnel removed, returning to his battalion and remaining on duty for two days. Residence at appointment: 556 Hancock Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

ABNER H. PLATT, Captain, formerly Commanding Officer, Company C, 106th Machine Gun Battalion. For extraordinary heroism in action near St. Souplet, France, October 17, 1918. Captain Platt, while moving forward in the attack with machine-gun units, encountered a number of stragglers in a sunken road. He organized these men into a company and led them in attacking waves. Later he personally led a patrol which located and silenced enemy machine guns which were firing from a flank position.

CHARLES A. SANDBURG, Captain, Company E, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near St. Souplet, France, October 17, 1918. After having been severely wounded, he continued to advance with his command until ordered to leave the field by his Regimental Commander. Residence at appointment: 87 Prather Avenue, Jamestown, N. Y.

MARVIN L. ATKINS, First Lieutenant, 105th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near St. Souplet, France, October 18, 1918. Continuing in action after being gassed, Lieutenant Atkins displayed exceptional personal bravery when the advance of his platoon was checked by heavy machine-gun fire in seizing the gun of a wounded soldier and attacking the machine gun, which he silenced and captured. Under the inspiration of this fearless act his company overcame several other machine-gun emplacements and reached the objective. Residence at appointment: 174 Argyle Place, Arlington, N. J.

RALPH POLK BUELL, First Lieutenant, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action in an attack on the Hindenburg Line, September 29, 1918. Lieutenant Buell led his company in attack exposed to heavy artillery fire. When confronted by a strong enemy machine-gun position, firing point-blank on his advancing unit, he led the dash which resulted in the capture of the trench. He fell wounded thirty yards in advance of his men. Residence at appointment: 29 Washington Square, New York, N. Y.

DAVID T. BURGH, First Lieutenant, Chaplain, 105th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During the operations against the Hindenburg Line he displayed remarkable devotion to duty and courage in caring for the wounded under heavy shell and machine-gun fire. The splendid example set by this officer was an inspiration to the combat troops. Residence at appointment: Warren, Me.

ROBERT A. BYRNS, First Lieutenant, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Vendhuile, France, September 29, 1918. Lieutenant Byrns, although himself wounded, reorganized his company after the captain was killed and led it forward in the face of intense machine-gun fire until he was wounded a second time. His splendid courage and gallant conduct set an inspiring example to all ranks. Address: Care of the Adjutant General of the Army, Washington, D. C. Residence at appointment: Arrochar, Staten Island, N. Y.

FRED C. DAVIS, First Lieutenant, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29-30, 1918. He successfully held a trench several hundred yards in advance of the Hindenburg Line, under heavy shell and machine-gun fire, with a detachment which he had organized with men from different organizations. The following morning he led his detachment still farther, cleaning up about 500 yards of enemy trenches. Residence at appointment: Madrid, Iowa.

*PERCY M. HALL, First Lieutenant, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. Disregarding his extremely weak condition, he insisted on going into attack with his company. Recent illness made it nearly impossible for him to stand, still he went to all parts of the line during an enemy counter-barrage and murderous machine-gun fire, maintaining his platoon formations. By giving his overcoat to a wounded man he so exposed himself that he died shortly afterwards from the effects. Emergency address: Mrs. Joseph A. Howe, sister, 43 Brunswick Road, Montclair, N. J. Residence at appointment: Montclair, N. J.

WILLIAM S. HAWKINS, First Lieutenant, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near St. Souplet, France, October 17-18, 1918. Acting as liaison officer during the forcing of Le Selle River, Lieutenant Hawkins was severely wounded by an exploding shell. Undeterred by the weakened condition to which his wound reduced him, he bravely continued on, working untiringly under heavy shell and machine-gun fire for two days until the advance of his battalion was checked. Residence at appointment: 16 North 14th Street, Flushing, Long Island, N. Y.

*ALFRED J. HOOK, First Lieutenant, 106th Infantry, For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. He exhibited great courage and gallantry in taping off the line of departure for his company under a heavy shell and machine-gun fire. Later in the attack this daring officer was killed at the head of his company. Emergency address: Mrs. Hook, mother, 1001 Ocean Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. Residence at appointment: 1467 East 15th Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

*FRANKLYN J. JACKSON, First Lieutenant, 106th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During the operations against the Hindenburg Line he, as trench mortar officer of his regiment, twice volunteered to go forward under heavy shell and machine-gun fire on a personal reconnaissance. While gallantly and courageously engaged in the second reconnaissance he was killed. Emergency address: Mrs. Elizabeth S. Jackson, mother, 505 Clinton Avenue, New York, N. Y. Residence at appointment: 505 Clinton Avenue, New York, N. Y.

FRANCIS A. KELLEY, First Lieutenant, Chaplain, 104th Machine Gun Battalion. For repeated acts of extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 26-30, 1918, and east of Le Selle River, France, October 13-20, 1918. During the operations of his regiment against the Hindenburg Line, and later east of Le Selle River, he was constantly at the front, caring for the wounded and supervising the burial of the dead, often under heavy shell and machine-gun fire. His fearless conduct afforded an inspiring example to the combat troops. Residence at appointment: 99 Congress Street, Cohoes, N. Y.

DELANCY KING, First Lieutenant, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. He was wounded early in the engagement, but continued to lead his men until he received a second wound. His gallantry under shell and machine-gun fire and his disregard for his own safety furnished a splendid example to all ranks. Residence at appointment: 140 Bedford Avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.

JAMES R. LISA, First Lieutenant, Medical Corps, attached to 105th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near St. Souplet, France, October 18, 1918. After his battalion had been compelled to withdraw because of enfilading fire, Lieutenant Lisa displayed marked bravery in going forward and attending wounded men, whose evacuation was impossible because of the intense fire. Residence at appointment: 301 6th Street, Calumet, Mich.

*JAMES J. ROOS, First Lieutenant, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near St. Souplet, France, October 17, 1918. During the forcing of Le Selle River, he made personal reconnaissances of the territory, under terrific machine-gun fire, before leading his men in attack. Advancing to a farm which was strongly fortified by the enemy, he scattered his men about the building, from which a deadly fire was pouring, and, advancing alone into the building, captured nearly 200 Germans at the point of his pistol. He was killed in attack the following morning. Emergency address: Mrs. James J. Roos, wife, Dover, Ga. Residence at appointment: Dover, Ga.

CARL GUSTAVE ROBERT ROSS, First Lieutenant, 105th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. When his company was held up by an enemy machine-gun post, he advanced alone against it and succeeded in putting it out of action, exhibiting great bravery and gallantry, which was a splendid example to all ranks. Residence at appointment: 17 West 103d Street, New York, N. Y.

ARTHUR TALBOT, First Lieutenant, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near La Roux Farm, France, October 18, 1918. Being unable to find a suitable target for the 37-millimeter gun of which he was in command, Lieutenant Talbot armed the men of his section with enemy rifles and led a daylight patrol in advance of the lines. He reconnoitered La Roux Farm, exposed to heavy machine-gun fire, and put two enemy machine guns out of action, thus enabling our line to advance 1,000 yards without serious losses. Residence at appointment: 59 West 87th Street, New York, N. Y.

ROYAL K. TUCKER, First Lieutenant, Chaplain, 105th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During the operations against the Hindenburg Line he displayed remarkable devotion to duty and courage in caring for the wounded under heavy shell and machine-gun fire. The splendid example set by this officer was an inspiration to the combat troops. Residence at appointment: 207 South Dearborn Street, Mobile, Ala.

JOHN C. WARD, First Lieutenant, Chaplain, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During the operations against the Hindenburg Line he voluntarily and at great risk to himself went forward under heavy shell and machine-gun fire to care for the wounded and to search for the dead. Twice he was ordered off the field of battle by officers, being told each time that it was sure death to remain. During the entire time his regiment was engaged he remained on the field under fire, displaying a fine example of bravery and courage which was an inspiration to all. Residence at appointment: 307 Linwood Avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.

*EDWARD WILLIS, First Lieutenant, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. He displayed remarkable gallantry in leading his platoon of machine guns for more than 2,000 yards under terrific machine-gun fire. Even after being mortally wounded and unable to advance farther, he continued to urge his men on. Emergency address: Mrs. Edward Willis, wife, 144 Summit Avenue, Summit, N. J. Residence at appointment: 29 Norwood Avenue, Summit, N. J.

*WILLARD M. WEBSTER, First Lieutenant, 106th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. He received a painful wound in the face shortly after leading his company to the attack, but he refused to be evacuated until he suffered additional wounds, which eventually caused his death. Emergency address: Mrs. Beulah Webster, mother, 4142 Conklin Street, San Diego, Calif. Residence at appointment: 241 West 120th Street, New York, N. Y.

*LANE S. ANDERSON, Second Lieutenant, Company G, 106th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action in attack on the Hindenburg Line, September 27, 1918. Shortly after reaching his objective his detachment was attacked and almost encircled by the enemy, who were covering the position with sweeping machine-gun fire. In the face of this fire Lieutenant Anderson, with a grenade in each hand, jumped up from the cover of his position and attacked the enemy by bombing. He had advanced but a short distance when he was struck several times by machine-gun shots. He was dragged back to his trench and died shortly after. Emergency address: Justin K. Anderson, father, 1414 Virginia Street, Charleston, W. Va.

SAMUEL A. BROWN, JR., Second Lieutenant, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. Advancing with his platoon through heavy fog and dense smoke, and in the face of terrific fire, which inflicted heavy casualties on his forces, Lieutenant Brown reached the wire in front of the main Hindenburg Line, and after reconnoitering for gaps, assaulted the position and effected a foothold. Having been reinforced by another platoon, he organized a small force, and by bombing and trench fighting captured over 100 prisoners. Repeated attacks throughout the day were repelled by his small force. He also succeeded in taking four field pieces, a large number of machine guns, antitank rifles, and other military property, at the same time keeping in subjection the prisoners he had taken. Residence at appointment: 57 11th Street, Jamestown, N. Y.

JAMES CROSS, Second Lieutenant, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near St. Souplet, France, October 15, 1918. Accompanied by four soldiers, Lieutenant Cross made a reconnaissance of the River Le Selle, the journey being under constant heavy machine-gun fire. To secure the desired information it was necessary to wade the stream for the entire distance. On the following evening Lieutenant Cross taped the line from which his regiment would launch their attack, and in the battle that followed he was severely wounded. Residence at appointment: Helmwood, Tenn.

HAROLD C. DE LOISELLE, First Lieutenant, 106th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 27, 1918. Lieutenant De Loisel twice voluntarily went forward under heavy shell and machine-gun fire to reconnoiter the enemy positions. While leading the second of these patrols the officer who accompanied him was killed. Notwithstanding, with but one other man, he continued in his reconnaissance until almost surrounded by the enemy. He succeeded in outmaneuvering the enemy and returned with valuable information. Residence at appointment: 2105 Foster Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

ERWIN A. DENNIS, Second Lieutenant, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near St. Souplet, France, October 17, 1918. He led a small patrol against an enemy machine-gun nest, which he successfully captured. He discovered a large enemy nest, and for three hours held a position against it until reinforced by a Vickers machine gun. This aid forced the enemy to surrender; the capture consisted of eight officers, 145 men, three large Maxim guns, seven light machine guns and three antitank guns. Residence at appointment: 103 Lansing Street, Auburn, N. Y.

STEPHEN B. ELKINS, Second Lieutenant, 105th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During the operations against the Hindenburg Line Lieutenant Elkins, with three sergeants, occupied an outpost in advance of the line, which was attacked by a superior force of the enemy. He so directed his small detachment that he succeeded in repulsing the attack, killing ten Germans, capturing five, and putting the rest of the enemy to flight. The bravery and determination displayed by this group were an inspiration to all who witnessed them. Address: Care of the Adjutant General of the Army, Washington, D. C. Residence at appointment: Europa, Miss.

PAUL A. FLORIAN, JR., Second Lieutenant, 105th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During the operations against the Hindenburg Line Lieutenant Florian exhibited splendid courage and gallantry. After having been twice wounded he continued under heavy shell and machine-gun fire to install telephone wires to an advance headquarters. Residence at appointment: Troy, N. Y.

*KENNETH GOW, Second Lieutenant, Machine Gun Company, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. While supply officer for his company he personally took rations forward with a pack mule, through continuous shell and machine-gun fire. When all officers of his company were either killed or wounded he assumed command and led it forward through heavy shell and machine-gun fire until he was killed. Emergency address: Robert M. Gow, father, 12 Caldwell Avenue, Summit, N. J. Residence at appointment: 12 Caldwell Avenue, Summit, N. J.

RAMON L. HALL, Second Lieutenant, 105th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During the operations against the Hindenburg Line he left shelter, went forward under heavy shell and machine-gun fire, and succeeded in bringing back to our lines a wounded soldier. His splendid courage and gallant conduct furnished a fine example to his command. Residence at appointment: Care of the Gazette, Schenectady, N. Y.

GEORGE MATTHEWS, JR., Second Lieutenant, Company B, 105th Machine Gun Battalion. For extraordinary heroism in action near Arbre Guernon, France, October 18, 1918. After having been wounded in the head and suffering great pain, he coolly and efficiently made disposition for the security of his guns and safety of his men and the evacuation of the wounded. Later at a dressing station, though bleeding profusely, he refused surgical attention until other wounded men of his platoon had been cared for. Residence at appointment: 333 East 26th Street, New York, N. Y.

*HORACE B. SCANLAN, Second Lieutenant, 106th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 27, 1918. Gathering about forty men from various units in a forward trench, he organized them into an attacking party and led them forward under heavy machine-gun fire, repulsing an enemy counter-attack. While in the performance of this exploit he was mortally wounded but, attempting to push forward with his men, he called out: "Go on fighting! Never mind what happened to me." Emergency address: Mrs. John L. Scanlan, mother, 347 Gates Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. Residence at appointment: 347 Gates Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

THOMAS G. SIMPSON, Second Lieutenant, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. He went out into the open under heavy machine-gun fire and succeeded in carrying back for a distance of about twenty-five yards a wounded officer and a wounded soldier. Residence at appointment: 534 Tenth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

*CHARLES H. ADREAN, First Sergeant, Company A, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. While commanding part of his company he was wounded in the head, but continued to direct his men, reorganizing a detachment of soldiers and establishing a line of defense in a trench. Later, while going to the assistance of some members of his command who had pushed far to the front, he was again hit in the shoulder and severely wounded. His heroic and voluntary disregard of self in order to save his comrades set a splendid example to all ranks. He has since died of the wounds received in this action. Emergency address: Mrs. Charles H. Adrean, wife, 1006 Rudolph Place, Utica, N. Y. Residence at enlistment: 1026 Kossuth Avenue, Utica, N. Y.

EDWARD A. DUNCAN, First Sergeant, Company A, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During the operations against the Hindenburg Line he displayed great gallantry and courage by going forward under heavy shell and machine-gun fire and bandaging the wounded and bringing them back to our lines. Throughout the engagement he exhibited a fearless disregard of the enemy's fire and performed valuable service by organizing new squads when his company was suffering heavy casualties as a result of shell and machine-gun fire. Residence at enlistment: 681 McKinley Parkway, Buffalo, N. Y.

HAROLD GREENE, First Sergeant, Company H, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. When his commanding officer was severely wounded and evacuated he took command of the company and led it into effective combat. He continued to lead the company forward through a terrific fire of artillery and machine guns for more than a mile after being severely wounded, and refused to be evacuated until he had received a second wound which made it impossible for him to continue farther. Residence at enlistment: 190 Hawley Street, Binghamton, N. Y.

*JAMES A. HAMILTON, First Sergeant, Company M, 105th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 27, 1918. He rallied his company after it had become disorganized under a machine-gun barrage and all the officers were killed or wounded. He led his men forward in an effective attack, and was shortly afterwards killed while moving along his line. Emergency address: Mrs. James Hamilton, mother, 52 River Street, Hoosick Falls, N. Y. Residence at enlistment: 52 River Street, Hoosick Falls, N. Y.

WILLIAM H. KRAUSE, First Sergeant, Company C, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. He displayed great gallantry during the operations against the Hindenburg Line. A smoke barrage was put down by the enemy between his company and the company on the left. The Company Commander having been wounded, Sergeant Krause sent a soldier to establish liaison with the company on the left. When this soldier was severely wounded and unable to accomplish his mission, Sergeant Krause went himself and succeeded in reaching the company. While returning to his own company Sergeant Krause met a party of Germans attempting to break through the gap between the two companies. In a personal encounter he killed a German officer and forced the rest of the party to withdraw. Residence at enlistment: 314 Marguerite Avenue, Syracuse, N. Y.

EDWARD T. RUANE, First Sergeant, Company B, 105th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During the operations against the Hindenburg Line Sergeant Ruane, with an officer and two other sergeants, occupied an outpost position in advance of the line, which was attacked by a superior force of the enemy. Sergeant Ruane assisted in repulsing this attack and in killing ten Germans, capturing five and driving off the others. The bravery and determination displayed by this group were an inspiration to all who witnessed them. Residence at enlistment: 74 Lancaster Street, Cohoes, N. Y.

*EDWARD W. SCOTT, First Sergeant, Company L, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. He assumed command of his company after all the officers had become casualties, though he himself had been shot through the arm, and led it into effective combat. After being wounded a second time he refused to go to the rear, but continued to advance until he was killed. Emergency address: W. S. Scott, brother, New York Coffee Exchange, New York, N. Y. Residence at enlistment: New York Coffee Exchange, New York, N. Y.

EDWARD N. THOMPSON, First Sergeant, Company I, 105th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Mont Kemmel, Belgium, August 31, 1918. Residence at enlistment: 617 West 152d Street, New York, N. Y.

FRANK J. VIDA, First Sergeant, Company G, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29-30, 1918. After all his company officers had been killed or wounded he took command, despite the fact that he, too, had been wounded. He succeeded in capturing part of the Hindenburg Line and holding it against several strong counter-attacks, remaining with his company and refusing to go to the rear for medical treatment until it was relieved. Residence at enlistment: 1301 Avenue A, New York, N. Y.

*WILLIAM H. WARD, First Sergeant, Company M, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. Although severely wounded, Sergeant Ward assumed command of his company, after the Company Commander had become a casualty, displaying great gallantry and bravery in leading them into action. While endeavoring to locate enemy machine-gun nests, he was killed. Emergency address: William H. Ward, Sr., father, 14 Lawton Avenue, Auburn, N. Y. Residence at enlistment: 14 Lawton Avenue, Auburn, N. Y.

THOMAS ARMSTRONG, Sergeant, Company H, 106th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During the operations against the Hindenburg Line he alone attacked and drove back an enemy patrol. Later, when his captain was wounded, he remained with him and killed two Germans who attacked them. Residence at enlistment: 406 St. Mark's Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

FRANCIS A. BEAN, Sergeant, Company A, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near St. Souplet, France, October 18, 1918. His company having been stopped by heavy enemy machine-gun fire, Sergeant Bean and two other soldiers worked their way into the enemy position, putting out of action two hostile machine guns. They then proceeded toward a dugout near by under heavy fire and, upon encountering a German in the act of throwing a grenade at them, Sergeant Bean shot him. Reaching the entrance to the dugout they forced the surrender of the occupants, who numbered thirty-five, including three officers. Residence at enlistment: 1566 Neilson Avenue, Utica, N. Y.

JOHN N. F. BILITZKI, Sergeant, Company A, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During the operations against the Hindenburg Line, Sergeant Bilitzki, although twice wounded, refused to leave the field, but remained with his platoon, exhibiting magnificent courage and bravery, until he was wounded a third time. His devotion to duty set a splendid example to the men of his company. Residence at enlistment: 21 Olga Place, Buffalo, N. Y.

*WHITNEY BOWLES, Sergeant, Company L, 107th Infantry, 27th Division. For extraordinary heroism in action near Le Catelet, France, September 29, 1918. After the advance had ceased Sergeant Bowles exposed himself to intense machine-gun fire in order to place the remains of his platoon in shell holes and organize his platoon for defense. Later learning that an officer of another company lay severely wounded a short distance in front of our lines, Sergeant Bowles unhesitatingly advanced into heavy machine-gun fire toward the officer to rescue him. He was killed while attempting the rescue. Residence at enlistment: Forest Hills, N. Y.

SAMUEL V. BOYKIN, Sergeant, Company B, 105th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 20, 1918. During the operation against the Hindenburg Line Sergeant Boykin, with an officer and two other sergeants, occupied an outpost position in advance of the line, which was attacked by a superior force of the enemy. Sergeant Boykin assisted in repulsing this attack and in killing ten Germans, capturing five, and driving off the others. The bravery and determination displayed by this group were an inspiration to all who witnessed them. Residence at enlistment: 117 East 11th Street, New York, N. Y.

*FREDERICK H. BROWN, JR., Sergeant, Company I, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. On two occasions he averted heavy casualties in his platoon by going forward and, single-handed, destroying machine-gun nests with hand grenades. At the time of his death he had brought his platoon to the farthest point of advance. Emergency address: Mrs. Frederick H. Brown, mother, Dana Place, Englewood, N. J. Residence at enlistment: Dana Place, Englewood, N. J.

*JOHN J. CROWLEY, Sergeant, Company M, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. When the advance of his platoon was checked by perilously heavy machine-gun fire from the direct front, he, after ordering his men to cover, advanced alone and bombed the gun out of action. After successfully leading his platoon to one of the farthestmost points of the advance he was killed. Emergency address: Mrs. Hannah Crowley, mother, East Main Street, Mohawk, N. Y. Residence at enlistment: East Main Street, Mohawk, N. Y.

Residence at enlistment: Rockaway, N. Y.

GEORGE K. HAGEMEYER, private, Company M, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Bony, France, September 29, 1918. During a period that his company was held up by hazardous enemy fire, Private Hagemeyer acted as stretcher bearer, and even though wounded and ordered to the rear, he continued in the work of removing the wounded. He remained at his task through the violent fire until he was wounded five times and forced to retire from loss of blood. Residence at enlistment: 209 West 128th Street, New York, N. Y.

HENRY J. HARLIN, private, Machine Gun Company, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. After an advance of more than 2,000 yards with the infantry, Private Harlin crawled through a barbed wire entanglement and remained the entire night under machine-gun fire within a few yards of the enemy position in order to protect his comrades from a surprise attack. Residence at enlistment: 168 West End Avenue, New York, N. Y.

LESTER HERRICK, private, Company C, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During the operations against the Hindenburg Line he exhibited great courage and bravery by advancing alone against two enemy machine-gun positions, putting both of them out of action. In accomplishing this he was seriously wounded. Residence at enlistment: Rockwell Springs, N. Y.

SYLVESTER J. HOWLAND, private, Company B, 105th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During the operations against the Hindenburg Line he left shelter, went forward under heavy shell and machine-gun fire, and succeeded in rescuing a wounded soldier, thereby displaying great bravery and gallantry. In performing this act he was wounded. Residence at enlistment: 96 West Canal Street, Ilion, N. Y.

WASYL KOLONOCZYK, private, Company C, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. Private Kolonoczyk, under heavy shell and machine-gun fire, left the shelter of his trench and, going forward under a thick smoke screen, single-handedly captured between thirty and forty German prisoners. His conspicuous gallantry and bravery upon this occasion showed a heroic disregard for his own safety, which was a splendid example for all.

Private Kolonoczyk is also awarded an oak-leaf cluster for the following act of extraordinary heroism in action near St. Souplet, France, October 18, 1918: After the advance of his company had been stopped by strong hostile machine-gun fire, he, with three companions, advanced far ahead of the front line to attack an enemy position located in a large farmhouse. By skilful maneuvering in the broad daylight, they covered all entrances to the house and forced the surrender of the entire force of the enemy, numbering thirty-six men and two officers. During the exploit they killed two Germans who attempted to take cover in the cellar. Residence at enlistment: 72 Canvas Street, Cohoes, N. Y.

LAWRENCE J. LACOSSE, private, Company K, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. Residence at enlistment: 112 Webster Street, North Tonawanda, N. Y.

*EARL W. LAUTENSLAGER, private, Company B, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During the operations against the Hindenburg Line, when his company was held up by an enemy machine-gun nest, he volunteered to cross an open field in front of his company in order to ascertain the exact location of the enemy's position. While engaged in this enterprise he was killed by a bursting shell. His heroic self-sacrifice was a splendid example to the men of his company. Emergency address: George J. Lautenslager, father, 16 Sweeney Avenue, Genesee, N. Y. Residence at enlistment: 16 Sweeney Avenue, Genesee, N. Y.

JAMES A. LEE, private, Company D, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of St. Souplet, France, October 18, 1918. The advance of his organization having been temporarily halted by machine-gun fire from a fortified house, Private Lee went forward as a scout to locate the entrance to the house. After discovering the entrance, he led a detachment in an assault, and at the point of the bayonet compelled about thirty-five of the enemy to surrender. A few minutes later, while advancing alone toward an outhouse, he effected the capture of more of the enemy. Residence at enlistment: R. F. D. No. 1, Norwood, N. Y.

HUGH J. V. MORRISON, private, Company K, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. Residence at enlistment: 59 West 105th Street, New York, N. Y.

MICHAEL S. MURPHY, private, Company B, 105th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During the operations against the Hindenburg Line he left shelter, went forward under heavy shell and machine-gun fire, and succeeded in rescuing a wounded soldier, thereby exhibiting great bravery and gallantry. In performing this act he was wounded. Residence at enlistment: 138 Congress Street, Cohoes, N. Y.

HENRY M. NORTON, private, Medical Detachment, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. Private Norton, on his own initiative, went forward twice in advance of the front line, bringing in wounded under heavy shell and machine-gun fire. Residence at enlistment: Olean, N. Y.

*CHARLES C. PAGE, private, Company D, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During operations against the Hindenburg Line he crawled out through the murderous fire and rescued a wounded comrade, carrying him to the nearest dressing station.

For the following act of extraordinary heroism in action near St. Souplet, France, October 15, 1918, Private Page is awarded an oak-leaf cluster, to be worn with the Distinguished Service Cross: He was sent ahead with a scout patrol of six men, when they were suddenly fired upon. One of their number was killed and four others, including Private Page, were wounded. With one leg blown off and the other hanging by a fragment of flesh, he stimulated the greatest confidence in his companions by his words of encouragement while being placed on a stretcher. He died from the effects of his wounds shortly after reaching the hospital. Emergency address: Mrs. Anna L. Page, mother, 239 East 54th Street, New York, N. Y. Residence at enlistment: 239 East 54th Street, New York, N. Y.

IRA S. PARKE, private, Machine Gun Company, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Bony, France, September 29-30, 1918. Private Parke, a machine gunner, although wounded three times during the attack on the Hindenburg Line, refused to leave the field, and set a splendid example for his comrades. Residence at enlistment: St. Clair, Mich.

*EDWIN PAUL, private, Company L, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. Private Paul fearlessly ran in front of a tank under heavy machine-gun fire in order to drag a wounded officer out of the path of its advance. Shortly after, although himself severely wounded, he again exposed himself to heavy fire in order to render aid to a wounded corporal. While bandaging the corporal's leg he was hit by a shell fragment and killed. Next of kin: Eugene Paul, father, 8 Barker Avenue, White Plains, N. Y. Residence at enlistment: White Plains, N. Y.

HARRY P. PUTNAM, private, Company H, 105th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 30, 1918. He exhibited exceptional bravery in voluntarily leaving shelter, going forward under heavy shell and machine-gun fire, and bringing back to our lines several wounded comrades. Residence at enlistment: Fort Johnson, N. Y.

SAMUEL J. RANDALL, private, Company L, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near St. Souplet, France, October 15, 1918. Accompanied by an officer and three other soldiers, he made a reconnaissance of the River Le Selle, the journey being made under constant heavy machine-gun fire. To secure the desired information it was necessary to wade the stream for the entire distance. Residence at enlistment: Penn Yan, New York, N. Y.

JOHN W. RAWLINSON, private, Company K, 106th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action at Quennemont Farm, near Ronssoy, France, September 28, 1918. After assisting in repulsing a strong enemy counter-attack, Private Rawlinson, with two other soldiers, became separated from his company, due to the heavy fog. Seeing a superior force of the enemy in a trench, they unhesitatingly attacked, and after killing and wounding several of the enemy, they captured numerous prisoners and brought them back to our lines. Residence at enlistment: Kingsville, Tex.

EUGENE C. REYNOLDS, private, Company K, 106th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action at Quennemont Farm, near Ronossoy, France, September 28, 1918. After assisting in repulsing a strong enemy counter-attack, Private Reynolds with two other soldiers, became separated from his company, due to the heavy fog. Seeing a superior force of the enemy in a trench, they unhesitatingly attacked, and after killing and wounding several of the enemy, they captured numerous prisoners and brought them back to our lines. Residence at enlistment: 248 Grand Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

ANTONY SCLAFONI, private, Company A, 105th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. While the advance against the Hindenburg Line was at its height Private Sclafoni, seeing a Lewis gunner exposed to the enemy, ran to his assistance. On the way he was seriously wounded, but continued on, reaching the position and using his body to shield the gunner while the latter poured a fire into the enemy. He was wounded three times, finally losing consciousness, but after his wounds were dressed he insisted on leaving the field unaided. Residence at enlistment: 136 Christie Street, New York, N. Y.

HAROLD L. SHIPMAN, private, Company B, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. During the operations against the Hindenburg Line Private Shipman, a Lewis gunner, exhibited great courage and dash when a party of about forty German prisoners, seeing their guards killed by German snipers while going to the rear, seized rifles and opened fire on the Americans. Shipman rushed forward with his Lewis gun and put the entire group out of action. During the engagement he also silenced three enemy machine-gun positions. Residence at enlistment: 60 La Fore Place, Buffalo, N. Y.

WILLIAM R. SHUGG, private, Company G, 102d Field Signal Battalion. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. After the commander of the infantry platoon to which he was attached as a visual signalman had been killed he took command of the platoon and exhibited remarkable gallantry and leadership in leading it into effective combat. Residence at enlistment: 79 Home Avenue, Rutherford, N. J.

MORRIS SILVERBERG, private, Company G, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. Private Silverberg, a stretcher bearer, displayed extreme courage by repeatedly leaving shelter and advancing over an area swept by machine-gun and shell fire to rescue wounded comrades. Hearing that his company commander had been wounded, he voluntarily went forward alone, and upon finding that his officer had been killed, brought back his body. Residence at enlistment: 309 East 99th Street, New York, N. Y.

*BERNARD A. STEGAR, private, Company F, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near St. Souplet, France, October 18, 1918. When a comrade was severely wounded by machine-gun fire, he went to his rescue, crossing open spaces subjected to intense fire by the enemy. He was wounded as he advanced, but he continued forward and reached the side of his wounded comrade, when he was again hit by a machine-gun bullet and instantly killed. Emergency address: Mike Stegar, father, Marlin, Tex. Residence at enlistment: Marlin, Tex.

*ALPHEUS E. STEWART, private, Company G, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action east of Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918. Private Stewart, having been wounded in the head, advanced with fearless disregard for his own personal safety against an enemy machine-gun nest and succeeded in putting it out of action by bombing the gunners. He was killed immediately thereafter by enemy machine-gun fire. Emergency address: Mrs. Rosey Stewart, mother, 309 Galendrina Avenue, San Antonio, Tex. Residence at enlistment: San Antonio, Tex.

RALPH B. SULLIVAN, private, Battery B, 104th Field Artillery. For extraordinary heroism in action near Montzéville, France, September 14, 1918. When a continuous bombardment had set fire to the camouflage covering of a large ammunition dump of 75-millimeter shells and exploded nine of the shells, he, utterly disregarding his personal safety, left a sheltered position and ran to the dump and, with the aid of three other men, extinguished the fire, not only saving the ammunition, but also preventing the exact locating of the dump by the enemy. Residence at enlistment: 166 West 128th Street, New York, N. Y.

JOHN A. VAN DYNE, private, Company B, 108th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Ronssoy, France, September 29, 1918.
